THE GREAT WAR.

JAPANESE TURNING MOVEMENT AT KIRIN.

Supposed to be Intended to Cover an Attack on Vladivostok.

Business Paralyzed at Harbin and General Lack of Confidence Shown—Female Population Leaving the Town—Russian Cavalry Operating Widely to Avoid Surprise—Peace Reports Again Circulated.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

UNSHU PASS, April 1.—All is quiet. A heavy curtain of secrecy conceals the strength of the Japanese positions. Contradictory reports are being received from Chinese fugitives, most of which indicate that there is a constant movement of the Japanese northeast, as thought with the intention of effecting a turning movement at Kirin to cover the beginning of an attack on Vladivostok. Chinese report that the construction of a railroad from Shinkmin to Mukden has begun. Snow has fallen and the roads are softening into mud and are in a wretched condition.

PANICKY FEELING AT HARBIN.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

HARBIN, April 1.—Business is paralyzed and a general lack of confidence is shown. A majority of the female population is leaving Harbin. It is believed that the Japanese are preparing a bold turning movement, probably to the eastward, and the Russian cavalry is operating widely in order to avoid a repetition of the surprise at Mukden.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1, 2:35 p.m.—According to the news reports circulated on the Boerse today, Russia will cede the southern portion of the island of Sakhalin, in the North Pacific, off the east coast of Asia, used as a Russian convict settlement, to Japan, and agree that Manchuria and Korea are permanently outside of the Russian sphere of influence, and the Eastern Chinese Railroad will be turned over to Japan for cession to China or to an international syndicate upon a consideration of $125,000,000, which Japan will accept in lieu of indemnity.

PRICES PICKING UP.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1, 3:15 p.m.—According to the Boerse today, the great strength on peace reports, all stocks showing an improvement. Imperial Russian is opened at points and a half higher, and closed at 1/2, the highest quotation of the day. The new Russian loan, which was opened today, at a premium of 1/2 to 3/4 point.

ANOTHER INTERNAL LOAN.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

LONDON, April 1.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says that another internal loan of $100,000,000 will shortly be issued.

JAP WAR TARIFF.

EFFECTIVE JULY FIRST.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

NEW YORK, April 1.—Official announcement has been made by the Japanese Consul here of the new customs tariff on imports into Japan. The change will go into effect July 1, with an increase of duties on nearly all articles that are now subject to import tax. In all cases it is an ad valorem increase, whether the article was previously taxed by specific or ad valorem duty, and is designed to afford an increased revenue for war expenses.

Up to this time the customs receipts have been devoted to internal administration entirely, but after July 1 the excess receipts from the new rates will be used for the war fund.

At present the customs receipts of the empire are about $4,150,000. The change is expected to produce additional funds of at least $2,000,000. A dozen other direct taxes will be increased at the same time.

The increase in customs duties ranges from 5 per cent. in the cases of raw materials and certain partially manufactured products, to 100 per cent. in the case of tobacco, which must pay, all told, a duty of 250 per cent. Malt and spirituous liquors are subjected to a 55 per cent. ad valorem increase. Wood pulp used for manufacturing paper will continue under the present schedule.

GOING TO GERMANY.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

TOKIO, April 1.—The Prince and Princess Arisugawa and suite departed for Germany today, and the press expresses the hope that their visit will increase the growing feeling of confidence and respect between the two countries.

NEW NAVAL ATTACHE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

TOKIO, April 1.—Lieut. Frank Marble, formerly secretary of the General Board of the Navy at Washington, has relieved Lieut. Gillis as naval attaché of the American legation in this city.

THEY WON'T MIX.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

COLUMBIA (Mo.) April 1.—Two Russian students at the State University have requested the University authorities to reassign them to seats for the reason that they had been given places on the same bench with four Japanese. The Russians claimed that they were embarrassed by the laughter and jokes of the other students. The request was granted.

REPORTS FROM THE FIELD.

RUSSIANS MOVING NORTH.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

TOKIO, April 1.—The following report has been received from the headquarters of the Japanese armies in the field:

"Our force in the direction of Singling (about eighty miles east of Mukden) reports that, according to information received from natives, a force of Russians and mounted bandits under Col. Madoloff, which has been assembling at Halling, has retreated to the north. According to other natives, Kien seems to be the place selected by the enemy for assembling.

"Our force at Welyunpomen (about thirty-five miles northeast of Tie Pass) reports that there has been no change in the enemy's positions in the vicinity of Mentschuk. There are some Russian infantry and cavalry about thirty-two miles northeast of Kalyuan (twenty-five miles from Tie Pass).

"Our force at Changti (forty miles above Tie Pass) reports that the enemy's cavalry outposts retreated twenty-five miles north of Changti after burning the railway station at Sounstun.

"Our force at Pakomen (thirty miles northwest of Tie Pass) reports that cavalry outposts of the enemy have been observed thirty miles northeast of that place, and that mixed forces of the enemy occupy Fengshan (thirty-five miles northeast of Pakomen). Famen-sheng (about fifteen miles west of Fengshan) and their vicinity."

LINEVITCH'S REPORT.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1.—A dispatch from Gen. Linevitch dated March 31 said no change had then taken place in the situation at the front.

SUPPLIES FOR VLADIVOSTOK.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1.—More than ten trains, stocked with provisions and war material, are leaving St. Petersburg daily for Vladivostok.

JAP PRISONERS ALL RIGHT.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1.—At the bureau established last week after the Japanese prisoners, the story of the suicide of a number of Japanese imprisoned at Medvid is officially declared to be misrepresented. The information received at the bureau is to the effect that one of a batch of 135 new arrivals, who was invalided, became very homesick and took his life. No complaints of ill treatment have been received. Two Japanese surgeons who were confined at Medvid were released and today were escorted to the frontier by American Vice-Consul Smith.

NELEGOTOFF'S SQUADRON.

PASSING ISLAND OF PERIM.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ISLAND OF PERIM (Strait of Bab-el-Mandeb) April 1.—The British cruiser Prometheus, which arrived here today from the north, reports having met the Russian fleet on the 29th of March. The Russian fleet consisted of five warships, four transports and a hospital ship.

The Russian hospital ship, Kostroma, bound for Jibuti, French Somaliland, arrived here today, and is taking on coal and water.

Five Russian warships and a tug passed here at sunset, bound for Jibuti. Three steamers were following them.

The vessels sighted by the Prometheus comprise the division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, commanded by Vice-Admiral Nelegotoff.

LONDON'S MONEY MARKET.

OPTIMISM IN WAR LOANS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, April 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The decided success of the Japanese loan flotation has much to do with this market's present optimism. In a saloon, this is the determination reached by the members of the London Loan Association, after correspondence and discussion between members, and it is to be strictly adhered to, they say.

COMING OF FUNSTON.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Brig-Gen. Frederick Funston today retired from command of the Department of the Lakes and started for San Francisco, to take command of the Department of California on April 4. Gen. Funston is accompanied by Mrs. Funston.

considered a farce. It is now said that it will amount to only ten millions sterling, sold at 80 most of which the Russian savings banks will take. The precise effect of the peace announcement on the market must naturally depend on the details of the settlement.

FATAL SNOWSLIDE.

Four Men Killed and a Number Injured by Avalanche at Mine Near Oway, Colo.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

OURAY (Colo.) April 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A snowslide came down at the Bankers' National mine tonight, while the night shift was at work, and carried away the bunkhouse and boarding-house. With them it took eleven men, four of whom were killed, including a brother of Superintendent Jack McNeill.

The dead: JOHN RABR, blacksmith. JOHN ORTH, compressor man. WALTER MCGOWEN, cook. ALEX M'NEIL, foreman.

The others of the eleven carried down have been rescued. Aaron Higginsblotom escaped from the slide, and made his way to the Camp Bird mine with news of the accident. Immediately a large relief party of Camp Bird miners was organized and started to the rescue. A relief party of about 150 men was organized in Ouray, but as the roads are impassable, the expedition had to be abandoned.

THE EVIDENCE.*Counsel Bodwell Gets Points

When He's "Mixed."*Five Mexican Miners Killed.
Oregon Land Frauds.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

VICTORIA (B. C.) April 1.—E. V. Bodwell, counsel for Mrs. Hopper in the suit brought against James Dunsmuir to break his brother Alexander's will, continued his attack on the evidence given by defendant at today's session of the trial. He said that the defendant had assumed the attitude of a man who wanted the court to be told his story because it was he who told it.

The Chief Justice remarked that the court was not bound to penalize a blunderer, because his testimony may have been mixed by the skill of counsel. If the trial judge was satisfied with the veracity, what could this court do?

Bodwell contended that the trial judge did not give the plaintiff and intervenor a chance to present their case.

The Chief Justice observed that this was a hearing on appeal, with a great deal less evidence before the court than at the trial.

The case will be continued Monday.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

TUOSON (Ariz.) April 1.—Word was received this morning from Silver Bell, thirty-five miles from Tucson, that a disastrous cave-in occurred last night at shaft No. 3 of the Imperial Copper Company, resulting in five Mexican miners meeting death. Four were severely hurt. The night shift was at work when the accident occurred.

OREGON LAND FRAUDS.NEW INDICTMENTS COMING.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

PORTLAND (Ore.) April 1.—The Oregon today says that a batch of new indictments is certain to come with the resumption of the Federal grand jury Tuesday, and already many prominent persons in various parts of the country are being suspected of complicity in any of the land frauds are trembling in their shoes at the prospects.

It is announced authoritatively that the grand jury will not be able to finish the business in hand prior to the time set for its final adjournment April 10, and that it will be necessary to call another jury then. As a matter of fact, it is considered certain that there is a sufficient amount of work now under consideration to consume the time of a new jury fully equaling the time taken up by the one retiring.

The latest sensation attending the return of Dist. Atty. Henry is contained in the report that Senator Mitchell and Congressman Mermann and Williamson will be required to either stand bond or face full victims to bench warrants from the court, as it is understood that Henry never gave bond to the grand jury after the adjournment of Congress. They were permitted to go on their own recognizance at the time of their indictment, on account of Congress being in session.

The chances are there will be a general investigation concerning the escape of Benjamin F. Minton and Adeline C. Zachary, under indictment by the Federal grand jury, on account of alleged complicity in land frauds. Both are now fugitives from justice, neither having given the required bond of $50,000.

NORWEGIAN SETTLERS.TO COLONIZE IN NEVADA.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

RENO (Nev.) April 1.—The Norwegians of Minnesota and the Dakotas plan to establish an immense colony in Nevada. A representative arrived here this week and is now engaged in carrying out the plans of those interested. It is planned to secure a tract of several thousand acres of unclaimed land in the central portion of the State, construct an irrigation system and place it ready for the ploughman. When that is done, arrangements are already made to have thousands of Norwegian families come to the State and place the land under cultivation, each family taking a small tract.

PACIFIC COAST STUDENTS.SESSION OPENS AT CAPITOLA.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

SANTA CRUZ, April 1.—The session of the Pacific Coast students' conference, which opened at Capitola today, was attended by delegates from twenty-one schools and colleges of the Pacific Coast, from Seattle and Tacoma in the north to Los Angeles and Riverside in the south.

This morning's programme, which will be the morning programme for the entire conference, consisted of four sessions, each covering India, China, etc., and of two Bible study classes, one led by Rev. W. H. Day of Los Angeles, on the "Acts of the Apostles," the other by Prof. H. W. Gilchrist of San Francisco Theological Seminary on the "Life of Christ." Mrs. J. C. Craven of Northfield, Mass., addressed the plenary meeting. The afternoon was occupied in an informal reception, at which the delegates from Pomona and Occidental Colleges were the hostesses.

Submarine Boats to Leave.MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

VALLEJO, April 1.—The storage batteries of the Pike and Grampus are being placed in good condition preparatory to the trip of the two submarine boats to San Diego. The tug Fortuna, which will act as their tender, is now in the dry dock, having her propeller repaired. The vessels probably will start for San Diego Monday, April 10.

Robber Had Business.BERKELEY, April 1.—Mrs. Ida Nash, occupying an apartment house at No. 2115 Market street, was robbed of $25 yesterday by a man who gained entrance into the house by pretending to have business with Mr. Nash, and who, by pointing a revolver at the frightened woman, succeeded in taking her money.*Submarine Boats to Leave.*MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD.

Later the three men were arraigned before Justice Lord. They each pleaded not guilty, and waived a preliminary hearing. The justice was inclined to fix the surety bonds at $10,000 in each case. The attorneys of the men under arrest strongly urged that the bonds be fixed at $500, declaring that the young men were not ordinary criminals; that they had made no effort to run away, and had no intention of doing so. April 1.—The Committee of the State Senate appointed to investigate the alleged attempt to raise a $500,000 fund with which to secure the passage of the biennial election bill, extending the tenure of county and State officials one year, today made a report, finding that no member of the Senate had been directly or indirectly connected with the alleged attempt at bribery. The report says, however, that the evidence shows that an attempt was made by a number of county officers to raise a fund to be used in lobbying the bill through the Senate, which attempt originated in the city of Omaha and is traceable to some county official in Douglas county, or properly to Treasurer Pink and his employee, J. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

LODZ (Russian Poland) April 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Police Commissioner Saabolevich of the Second District was seriously injured today by a bomb which was thrown at him in the street.

The Police Commissioner had been summoned by telephone to come to the office of the Chief of Police and started on foot, followed by a policeman. The latter noticed at the corner of Konstantin and Szwanki streets a poorly-dressed man carrying a basket. As Saabolevich approached the man suddenly hurled a bomb, which exploded with terrific force, blowing off the commissioner's feet and severely wounding him in the breast. It is feared his injuries will prove fatal.

The force of the explosion is judged by the fact that it tore a hole in the ground two feet deep and twelve feet in circumference.

The accompanying policeman drew his sword and wounded the commissioner's assailant on the head. When the prisoner was searched a loaded revolver and some cartridges were found in his pockets. He is reported to be dying from the sword cuts received.

The explosion was heard about five miles away. All the windows in the neighborhood were shattered. People in adjoining houses were thrown to the floor.

Saabolevich is hated by the Socialists. He is charged with killing a Socialist during the disturbances here in December last.

PEASANT OUTBREAK.ST. PETERSBURG, April 1.—The latest outbreak of peasant disorder is in the Werra district of Lithuania. Mobs of peasants are marching through the country, pillaging estates and demolishing the houses of the landowners. One proprietor was shot. The peasants entered the Werra, wrecked the vodka shops, became drunk and terrorized the inhabitants. The police were powerless and troops were called for. The telegraph and telephone wires are cut and communication with the outside world is severed.*FINNS AROUSED.*HELSINKI (Finland) April 1.—The populace is greatly aroused by the renewal of ransacking of lodging-houses by masked men who bound and gagged the inmates and searched everything. The people suspect that they are agents of the police, but this the latter indignantly deny. No arrests, however, have been made.*SCHOOLS REMAIN CLOSED.*ST. BY IRVING BAYFORD.

Because he is an American, with an American's inherent hatred of tyranny; because he is a man of honor, holding in abhorrence the creed that might makes right; because he is a business man of keen foresight and large capabilities, who views with indignation and resents with vigor all attempts of labor to rule or ruin; because he is a student of human nature and prober into practical problems of sociology, and as such seeks to check the present trend of industrial organization in this country toward bitter ends; because he is big and fearless and fair, C. W. Post, president and chief owner of the Postum Cereal Company, Limited, and one of the largest advertisers in the world, doubled his space in the Brooklyn Eagle when union labor leaders sought to bulldoze him into withdrawing his patronage from that journal in the furtherance of union labor's outrageous strikes and boycotts against it.

Mr. Post, who is now spending a vacation at the Hotel Green in Pasadena, has received from the Brooklyn Eagle a telegram of appreciation, containing the statement that that paper will concede no point to its cowardly and treacherous foe, but will stand by its guns to the last ditch, let the consequences be what they may.

Mr. Post did more than redouble his own support of the Eagle. As president of the Association of American Advertisers—composed of seventy of the largest advertisers and advertising firms in the world; the wealthiest commercial organization in the world—he telegraphed the members of that association a strong message acquainting them with his action, and advising them to "follow suit." Thus in attempting to tunnel beneath the property of the Eagle, the wicked and vicious union labor leaders sprung a mine that blew their own fortunes up. In their blind rage and foolishness they resented the bluntness of a few years ago when Typographical Union No. 6 was waging unholy war on the New York Sun. In that period the Postum company was made the recipient of scores of impudent and insulting letters from labor union bodies throughout the United States threatening all manner of vengeance if its advertising patronage were not withdrawn from the Sun. Quick as the flick of a gun hammer, the answer—but not to the would-be dictators; it was a telegram doubling the company's advertising space in the journal they sought to destroy. And the order stood.

"AMERICAN MANHOOD."

"When you tell Americans they've gone to do a thing," said Mr. Post in the course of a conversation on the industrial problem, yesterday afternoon at the Green, "you've picked out a pretty big chore for yourself. American manhood is as dangerous a tamper with as a can of giant powder. When approached with a club, you can't tell what minute it will explode. And if you hammer hard enough, you never know what minute it did explode. Union labor is at present engaged in an organized effort to persuade American employers with a club. It is trying with suicide."

"I speak as one familiar with men and experienced in the handling of men, and I say in the fullness of knowledge and without hesitation that the labor union is determined to destroy its purpose is to destroy the employer; its workings are calculated to destroy itself. Mark you, I would not challenge the right of workers to band themselves together to obtain shorter hours, better pay, sanitary surroundings in factory and workshop, and betterment of the condition of themselves and their fellows that has an honest motive back of it and adopts fair and honorable means for its attainment; that would be reasonable and right. But that is neither the spirit nor the method of the labor union. The grand central idea held aloft by its lawless leaders and around which its members revolve, is 'knock the old man'—that is, to overthrow the employer. The first opening made by the unioning of the shop or factory, each succeeding step is toward the goal where the union can feel that it has the employer in its grasp. Instantly this is accomplished, the second scene of the drama opens—the parade of grievances, an interminable procession of complaints with or without reason, of demands with or without justice—hammering and haggling and harassing of the 'old man' with little or no interruption until one day the limit of endurance is reached in the 'private office,' and the 'old man' calls it off."

"AND THEN—THE STRIKE."

"Look here!" he cries in desperation and honest anger, "am I running this plant in order to turn its profits over to you, or am I conducting it as a business for myself and paying you the wage I agreed to pay for the work you contracted to do?"

"You don't need to get high and mighty with us, old man," the union's representative replies, "we've never saw nor heard of before—reply: 'we've got you where we want you now, and you've GOT to do as we say.'"

"Not me," answers the employer, "not on your life! I'm an American citizen. I won't be bulldozed into ruin. I'll run my own business in my own way, and if that way doesn't suit you you can get out."

"The clash—the inevitable clash, has come. When the whistle blows, that night the ten, or fifty, or one hundred employees walk out. The strike is on. The plant shuts down. An industry has been choked silent."

"Then comes the bloody third scene—the battle real. The entire attention is to reopen with non-union hands. Strike-breakers are brought in. The union pickets the works. Words failing to dissuade the 'cash' workmen from carrying out the honest contract they have entered into, fists come into play. Stones fly. Heads are broken. Blood flows. Shots are fired. Murder is done. Dynamite next. Property is demolished. Folly leads the way, crime rushes after. Other 'organized' trades strike in sympathy. Industries are throttled. Wages stop. Credit goes to smash. Mouths hang open. Thousands of families are made to suffer shockingly. Fortunes are ruined. Misery reigns. Out of the wreck and wreckage, gaunt and menacing, rises the union totem, flaunting anarchy's flag."

"That is unionism. That is the union strike."

"THE WAY TO DO."

"Tell me," I said, "how you have solved this problem in your own works. What is the way you do?"

His first answer was a negative. "I

TO RAZE OLD POSTOFFICE.

Bid of Local Wrecking Company is Accepted—Good-by to Ruin.

Another landmark is soon to be effaced, the moss-grown ruin of the old postoffice building at Winston and Main streets. The Secretary of the Treasury has just accepted the bid of the Whitting Wrecking Company of this city, and by contract the last fragments are to disappear within sixty days. The raising of this bill-posted pile of decay forms a story within a story for the older inhabitants, who saw the rise, prosperity and gradual decline of the former Federal stronghold, and the endless tangles between property owners and public officials resultant from the latter. For years the unsightly heap of bricks and mortar, all but torn down in entirety, has furnished the butt of ridicule for the public prints and private individuals. It stood, however, and seemed destined to mock the slow motion of governmental processes when the new edifice should stand in magnificent completion upon the site of the old Downey block. The end that comes to all things reached it, fortunately before this ridiculous consummation.

have never had trouble in my own works.

"Years ago, when I was a superintendent of mines in Southern Illinois, I got my first and thorough insight into labor unionism. I went through the mill of trouble and was one of the toughest of tough union gangs I had to handle, and I had to handle it or it would have handled me—without gloves on either side. Every day or there had to be a knock-down-and-drag-out. There was shooting—I've a bullet scar there in my left hand now as memento. I learned a lesson then that has stood the test of application ever since—never to let the union get its hold."

"At Battle Creek two years ago I had in my employ 500 hands. The union came down like the 'wolf on the fold.' And I was ready. Gathering my men and women and boys and girls together, I told them something like this:

"This plant is mine. I own it. This business is mine. I built it. I pay you liberal wages. I have shown you that I believe in eight hours' work and ten hours' pay. I have built homes and sold them to you on easy installments at wholesale cost. I treat you big as long as you are with me, and you stay as long as you like if your work is satisfactory to me. I increase your pay as much as you show me. Every day or Saturday night comes and I have paid you off for the week, we are square. It is your privilege now to return to work Monday morning if you prefer to go elsewhere for employment. When you have been paid off, there is nothing coming from you to me, nor from me to you. For this plant is mine and the business is mine. I created both. You have no claim on either."

"Now, I propose to run my own business my own self. There will be no interference, no meddling, no dictation from others. You know that I do not believe in the labor union, and you know why. Any one of you who joins the union will be discharged. Any one of you who attends union meetings will walk the plank. If the union succeed in unionizing my plant that day I will close my plant and go to Europe. You may go to Europe, too, if you like—or anywhere else that you like."

"And then? How many walked the plank?"

"Not one, sir," came the quiet reply.

"And I have today the finest colony of workmen and workwomen to be found in the West. I pay them the best wages in Michigan. That is the way to do."

DO THIS—BUT NOT THAT.

"Good workmen," resumed Mr. Post, "want nothing they have not earned. Most serious is the mistake of patronizing your employees. Pullman paid that out, and my good friend Patterson of cash-register fame. He gave them more than they had earned, and they turned and rent him like wolves."

"Don't put your arm around your workman's neck and attempt to kiss him. He will spit in your face and bite your hand, in self-protection if not from meaner motive."

"Manufacturers, merchants and employers generally must protect themselves—at least they should—by themselves—and each other by branding the busybodies. In so far as is practicable the record of every man or woman applying for a position where many others are employed should be investigated. If it be found that he or she has been a union agitator, a malcontent, a make-trouble, a firebrand, he should be rejected and his name listed and passed on to other employers."

ers as a mutual safeguard. This is legitimate, wise, imperative.

"If the employer has been short-sighted or weak-kneed enough to let the union get a hold on him, he must—at least he should—force that union to put up cash guarantee or collectable bond to insure the performance of its part of the contract which he has entered into. There is no other way. The average labor union has about as much of business integrity as a pirate has of keeping a promise. It is as safe to trust the average labor union with a signed, sealed and delivered contract as it is to leave a juicy beefsteak alone in the dining-room with a bull pup, on the bull pup's agreement to be good."

"And finally," I suggested, "the employer himself must be big and fair and square, honest and upright and broad-minded, with his employees. No other way will do."

DID CANNIBALS EAT THESE MEN?

MILLER AND OLEANDER VICTIMS OF TIBURON INDIANS?

Los Angeles Man and Sailor Companion Started to Explore Little-known Island—Both are Missing, and Circumstances Point to Their Deaths Through Horrible Means.

A burning zeal to explore the little-known Tiburon Island of Baja California, is said to be responsible for the reported death of a former Los Angeles man, Henry E. Miller, and his companion, Capt. Gus, Oleander, known to sea-faring men all along the coast, from San Francisco to San Diego.

Dispatches from Yuma, Ariz., state that it is now almost an assured fact that these two men have lost their lives in their exploration expedition. Whether they were killed and eaten by the cannibals of the Zeri tribe of Indians on Tiburon Island, or were drowned in the turbulent waters of the Gulf of California, or were payal and slain by some marauding band of renegade Yaqui Indians on the mainland of Sonora, is a mystery that is at present unsolved; and perhaps the real facts of their death will never be learned.

All the circumstances obtainable, however, lead to the conclusion that Miller and Oleander met their death in one of the three ways mentioned.

Miller left Los Angeles several weeks ago, full of the idea of adventure, and the possibility of making a rich strike in his explorations. His glowing descriptions of the possibilities of the undertaking readily won the interest of Capt. Oleander, and Miller engaged him to accompany him on the perilous trip.

Miller was an erratic fellow who caused a stirring of the dry bones a few years ago through his publication of a little paper at San José, and since that time has figured in several affairs with money or less money. A few months ago he was active in the circulation of recall petitions in the Sixth Ward for the removal of ex-Councilman Davenport, and he made numerous speeches during that campaign.

He had formerly been a school teacher in Arizona, and later had opened a law office in Los Angeles. He was always of an adventurous turn of mind, and the undertaking of an exploration of Tiburon Island practically alone and with but small equipment for the undertaking was not unlike him.

That the two men are lost is certain, but the manner of their taking off is inferred from the circumstances which have come to light.

COL. HOTCHKISS DEAD.

Lawyer and Well-known Character Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis After Brief Illness.

Col. A. B. Hotchkiss, lawyer, and a well-known character in Southern California, died yesterday afternoon at his home, Grand avenue and Fourth street. He had been ailing for some time, but was not taken seriously ill until last Wednesday morning, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis. A second stroke yesterday resulted in his death. His fatal illness was quite unexpected, following closely upon a reception Tuesday night at his home to Kang Yu Wei of the Chinese reform party.

Col. Hotchkiss was 67 years old, a native of Pennsylvania, and had lived in Southern California twenty years. He had been resident of Colton and San Diego, and was engaged for some years as attorney for the Southern Pacific. He was married a number of years ago to Mrs. Mary Moore, a wealthy widow, who survives him. Funeral arrangements have not been arranged, but the service probably will be held Tuesday at St. Vibiana's Cathedral.

Dollars' Worth of Alfred Benjamin & Co.'s Clothing Sold West of Chicago

This vast yearly business is sufficient in itself to set a man thinking. Alfred Benjamin Clothing is sold by one leading store in each city—never sold by department stores, never handled like ordinary, ready-made stuff, never "bargainized."

It is not displacing tailoring, IT HAS ALREADY DONE THAT.

Men who want perfection in style, fine appearance, fit, service—wear Alfred Benjamin attire.

Tailoring is absurdly weak, shapeless, flat, monotonous placed side by side with this superb apparel.

Of this $750,000 worth of clothing James Smith & Co. is one of the largest consumers.

Nothing but sheer merit—superior merit—could have achieved this growth.

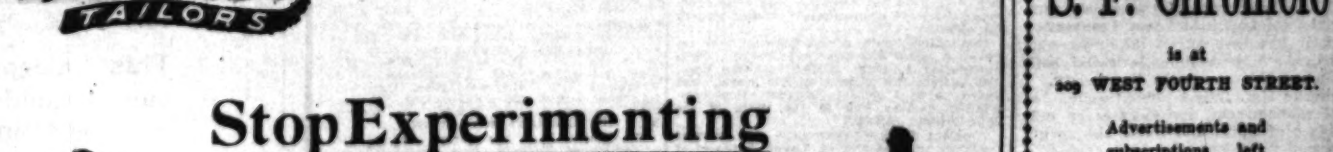

And finally, before you make any plans for a Spring suit, step in and let us have the privilege of showing you this famous clothing—come in and see "just how" it is far different and infinitely better than tailoring or ready-made goods.

Prices about half what a tailor asks.

Pre-Easter Showing of Women's Garments

More Than Ever the "Fashion Center"

In visiting our garment department for the past few weeks you had probably thought that it had reached its zenith, for such a wealth of women's garments were never shown by any house in Los Angeles. However, each week a decided improvement is noticeable and our pre-Easter showing which begins tomorrow will reveal hundreds of new styles, making it the greatest display of the year.

Our department is so complete that a woman has no difficulty in finding exactly what pleases her, and at a price that is more than satisfactory. We cordially invite you to come tomorrow and inspect the beautiful new costumes, silk suits, light weight wool suits, spring jackets, skirts and waists.

New Silk Waists
We can surely promise you a far greater variety of silk waists than you will find elsewhere in the city, and prices are way below ordinary. We ask particular attention to the beautiful waists, made of sheer mull, handkerchief linen, French lawn, and China silk. These come with the new sleeves, some of them elaborately trimmed with entire yokes of lace. Prices $2.75 to $12.50.

New Spring Skirts
Our stock of skirts fully equals the combined stocks of any other three stores in Los Angeles. We have over 2000 new spring skirts which will be shown tomorrow morning. These include every conceivable material. They come in every new style that fashion has devised. A woman cannot possibly be so well suited elsewhere, for here she can select from the full range of spring styles. Prices on dress goods range from $11.50 to $45.00. Prices on walking skirts range from $3.95 to $16.50.

$27.50 New Spring Suits $19.50
A special purchase of sixty-eight suits. Come in various styles and materials, including Shantung plaids, checks, etc., in blue, green and light mixtures. Some are in plain tailor made effects, others elaborately trimmed. Worth up to $27.50, special at $19.50.

Mohair and Sicilian 50c Yd.
38-inch mohair and Sicilian cloth, the most popular spring fabrics. Come in a full range of colors, highly lustrous, and an extra fine weave. An April bargain at 50c a yard.

All-wool Dress Goods 79c Yd.
A clean-up of fancy and plain weaves in all wool dress goods, values to $1.50. Special for Monday 79c a yard. They include the following popular weaves:

London Twines. Serge. Flax of Etamines. Buffalo Cloth. Granite Mixtures. Etamines. Henriettes. Canvas Weaves.

Airiest, Fairiest, Loveliest SPRING MILLINERY

Pre-Easter Display Tomorrow

Step into fairyland tomorrow and inspect creations of loveliness, beauty, enchantment that will fairly delight and thrill the senses. Paris has once more established a new fame for herself and here you will find some of the most bewitching pattern hats that the French metropolis has devised.

NATIVE SONS.

Ramona Parlor Elects Delegates to the State Convention—Lichtenberger for Trustee.

A meeting of Ramona Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West was held Friday evening. The election of delegates to the Grand Parlor to be held at Monterey, commencing April 24, resulted as follows: F. A. Stephenson, Harry J. Leland, George B. Beebe, Albert C. Sittel, H. C. Lichtenberger; alternate delegates: Chas. Wilson, C. F. Samps, L. E. Aubrey, Joseph W. Ryan.

Resolutions have been secured at Ramona Parlor for the Los Angeles delegates. H. C. Lichtenberger will be a candidate for reelection as grand trustee and has the support of all members in Southern California.

George E. Giffon was presented with past president's golden regalia, by past President Andrew B. Dockweiler, secretary and president of the parlor assisting in the ceremony. A large number of candidates was initiated, and the hall was taxed to its utmost by the great attendance.

ENGLISH BOATING.

LONGDON, April 1.—Oxford today won the sixty-second annual boat race between the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, defeating the latter by three lengths.

The race was rowed in beautiful weather. There was not a ripple on the water and the wind was very light. Consequently there was not much advantage in the choice of stations. This contest, always attractive, drew an unusually large crowd today, as the boat race is expected to be the highlight of the regatta. The prophecy was not fulfilled, Oxford holding the lead until the last stroke, when Cambridge won the race by a narrow margin.

Cambridge won the toss and selected the river side of the river. The boats were away to a splendid start at 11:24 a.m., but Bucknell set Oxford a slashing stroke of 34 to the minute, and almost immediately established a lead which was never lost.

When Crawford Steps were reached the Cambridge were a few lengths to the rear and the cheering of their supporters on the river banks was something to be long remembered. Both crews were still rowing strong, but the dark blue (Oxford) continued to come away, and soon had two lengths advantage.

Passing the Suez Canal works, Taylor (Cambridge) called on the light blue, who made a gallant response and closed the gap by half a length. But the dark blue stroke soon shook off the strain, Oxford quickly regaining her advantage and adding to their lead.

On Chiswick it was evident that the Cambridge crew showed signs that they were weakening, but Taylor made a great effort with a stroke somewhat faster than that of Oxford. It was not until the stroke was half a length, and the rhythm was manifested. Thereafter the leaders were never pressed and passed the ship at Motlake the contest of winners by three lengths. Time, 2m. 36s.

PRISONERS IN AFRICA.

BERLIN, April 1.—Dr. Steubel, director of the Colonial office, replying to a question in the Reichstag, said that German prisoners in the concentration camps in German Southwest Africa. The government, he added, had no intention, as reported, of disarming the prisoners, who had attacked and destroyed the Portuguese columns.

Long Beach Line

The Park of Quality.

Florencita Park combines natural and architectural beauties sufficient to delight the heart of the most critical homesee. Everything will be included for those who desire a home where the environments must be perfect.

This stately new residence park is conveniently located only 12 minutes from the center of Los Angeles on the rapid transit Long Beach line. Mere words can give but an inadequate description of this charming "living place." It stands supreme in its attractiveness and exclusiveness.

Three thousand peach and walnut trees bearing the finest varieties of fruit and nuts, deck this pretty park. An imposing and attractive waiting station, built in the Mission style has been erected. The entrance to the park is a veritable study in this style of architecture.

The entire park is divided by a Grand Boulevard 100 feet in width. This royal highway will compare favorably with the boulevards of European Capitals. It will be adorned with small parks in the center of each block, and these will be studded with dwarf-palms, flowers, and ornamental shrubbery.

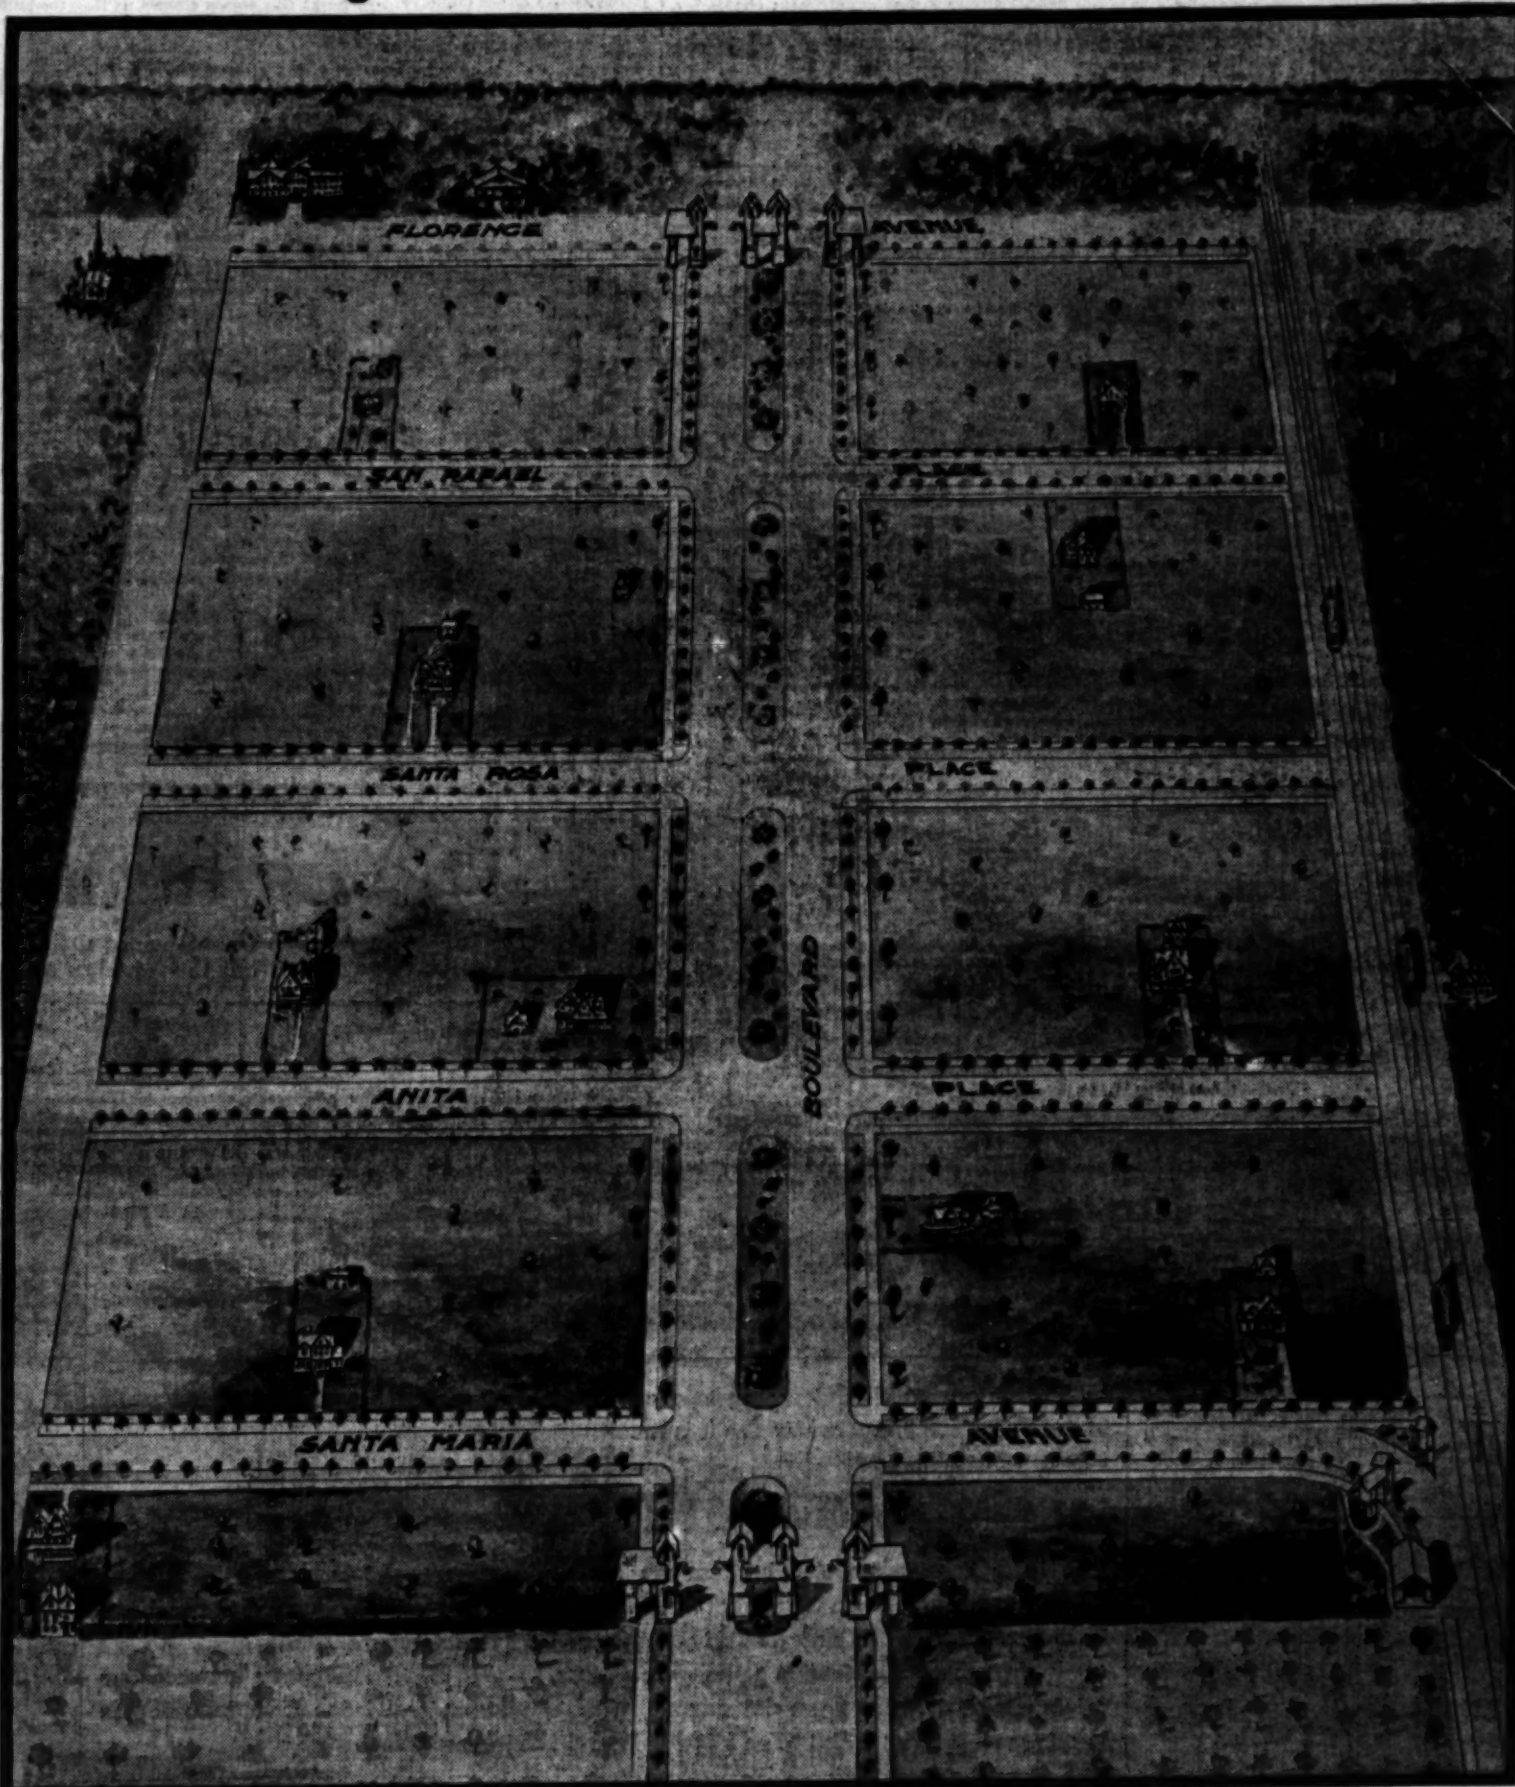

A MISSION ENTRANCE AT FLORENCITA.

Water Question Settled.

The eternal water question is settled forever at Florencita Park. An independent water system supplies 1,600,000 gallons daily of the purest underground water. The source of this enormous supply is from a well 600 feet in depth. The water underlies a strata of clay 400 feet deep. No surface water reaches this supply. Mains are laid on all streets and water piped to every lot.

Fire Protection a Feature.

Florencita stands unique in its elaborate system of fire protection. An enormous water pressure capable of throwing a stream over any house in a block, exists at all times. Two fire plugs have been placed in each block, and a fireman with hose reel, etc., is on the alert both night and day.

AS IT WOULD APPEAR TO A MAN IN AN AIRSHIP

Tomorrow Is Opening Day

MONDAY, APRIL 3d.

The REASONS WHY FLORENCITA PARK is a DESIRABLE PLACE TO LIVE

Instead of being an open public place—Florencita Park is enclosed by majestic gateways. Instead of a heavy black adobe soil Florencita Park has a warm, fertile, sandy loam, in which all the berries, fruits and flowers for which this land of the beaming sun is famous, will triumphantly flourish. Instead of being an hour distant from Los Angeles—Florencita Park is barely 12 minutes from the center. Prices will jump and jump high. Our present price list is only preliminary, and we reserve the right to withdraw it without previous notice. Thousands of wealthy people are streaming into California.

ter of the city. Instead of riding in a jolting car and over a hilly roadbed—the track and roadbed to Florencita Park are as smooth and level as polished glass. Instead of being without school facilities—Florencita Park has a fine school adjoining it on the south.

Its owner has purchased all adjacent property to insure a perfect harmony of environment. There is no one will deny this statement. Consider this feature carefully before you invest elsewhere.

A Suburban Garden.

The founder of Florencita Park has strained every effort to make it a garden spot in a "land of gardens." He has worked always with the idea in mind, that variety is an essential ingredient to beauty. The various trees, shrubs and flowers, termed by the immortal Goethe, as the "beautiful hieroglyphics of Nature" have been arranged in such varied style as to preclude the slightest appearance of monotony.

A pretty and artistic effect is given to Florencita Park by the artistic fruit tree fence bounding it on the North. It is a study in rustic work and worth traveling miles to see. Many other original features characterize this gem of the Southland.

Florencita Park is the happy goal of those who want a select home in a select location. If there is one thing this Park lacks from the standpoint of a perfect home place—we have failed to discover it. As an investment Florencita Park stands without a parallel, for the man who is fortunate enough to buy early.

A MISSION ENTRANCE AT FLORENCITA.

Drainage System Perfect.

Florencita has an established grade sloping toward the ocean, and effecting a perfect drainage system. In a few minutes after the heaviest rainfall all streets are dry. This is important for sanitary reasons as well as for comfort. A cement gutter extends the entire length of the park; also for drainage purposes.

Beautiful Street Work.

All streets will be lined with graceful camphor trees, and 8 foot parkings will extend from sidewalk to curb.

The most expensive cement curbing has been used together with substantial five foot cement walks. All houses will be built 45 feet from the curb line.

All electric and telephone wires will be placed in underground conduits to avoid marring the appearance of the streets.

BRUTAL THIEVES.

Old Man Knocked Down With the Butt of Pistol—Left in a Serious Condition—Toughs Seize Messenger Boy and Go Through His Pockets.

GET-AWAY DAY at the Ascot races was followed last night by a flurry of brutal robberies. It is fair to presume that these were the work of the thugs who buzz about the race horses, following them from track to track, touting, clocking and picking pockets. They were making their "strike" to get to the next race meet.

The hold-ups were widely separated. One took place at Eleventh and Figueroa streets, where the sidewalk is shaded as black as Erebus. An old man named E. A. Pappenfuss, who lives at No. 717 West Eleventh street, was passing that corner. As he stepped from the lighted walk into the deep shadow, two men stopped him. He did not quite understand what they wanted. With an oath, one of the thugs struck him a heavy blow over the head with a revolver, sending him reeling back against one of the trees. They then went through his pockets, taking his watch and a small amount of money. Both then ran away.

Pappenfuss finally managed to stagger home, half a block away. His condition is regarded as serious. The comedy element was supplied by two fat and fussy old detectives who followed in mysterious silence upon the family: went waddling furiously round the block; then waddled around the other way. Most inconsiderately, the robbers did not wait for them. The other crime occurred at such a time that it may have been done by the same men.

Albert Winters, aged 17, a messenger in the employ of a department store, was held up at 9:20 o'clock on Main street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third, by two men both of whom were under thirty years of age. The boy had gone to the southern part of the city delivering packages and was returning on his bicycle. He was riding near the curb and noticed two men standing on the curb. When he came abreast of them, one sprang into the street and seized his wheel, telling him to keep quiet or he would kill him.

They dragged the frightened boy off his seat and taking him to the sidewalk searched him. They found $1.50 in one of his pockets and then released him, ordering him to get on his wheel and ride as fast as he could. One thief gave him a vicious slap and tried to kick him but the boy dodged the blow. The robbers failed to find $1.50 which Winters had just collected for his employers. The money is which they robbed him was his own.

Winters returned to the store and reported the robbery. The police were notified and several officers were sent to that part of the city. Winters was unable to give a complete description of his assailants.

LAD IN FIRE NEAR DEATH.

FATHER, WITH BARE HANDS, SMOTHERS FLAMES.

At the Whittier Hotel Man Approaches Too Close to Heap of Burning Rubbish So That His Clothing Is Ignited—Fearfully Burned, but Likely to Live.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) WHITTIER, April 1.—Cecil, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Perkins of the Home Hotel, had a very narrow escape from a horrible death today, and tonight lies in his little bed swathed in bandages, his baby flesh burned so deeply that it was thought at first almost impossible to save his life.

That the child is alive tonight is due to the self-forgetting love of his father, who with his bare hands smothered the flames which imperiled his child. Cecil and a younger child were playing in the rear of the hotel, where also a rubbish heap was being reduced to ashes. The little fellow, attracted by the flames, went too near, and his clothing caught fire.

His frightened screams were heard by his father, who rushed to his child, caught the little fellow, whose clothes were by that time a mass of flame, and he him, and as he could find nothing else to smother the cruel fire, crushed it out with his unprotected hands.

The lad's right side is severely burned, but tonight Dr. Brooke thinks that he will recover.

Mr. Perkins' hands are deeply burned, also, but his injuries are not so serious as those of his child. It is said that the father not done as he did the baby would have undoubtedly lost his life, there being no other person near enough to have aided him.

RANCHMAN LOSES LEG.

J. F. Isbell, a well-known ranchman of this community has just undergone an operation at a Los Angeles hospital, his left leg being amputated below the knee. The operation was made necessary by gangrene developed in the leg.

LONG BEACH.

THIEF TAKES EASTER OUTFIT.

LONG BEACH, April 1.—The clothing store of Lowman & Co. on Pine avenue was broken into last night and a suit of clothes, an extra pair of trousers and some shirts and underwear, suitcases and ties taken, probably a complete outfit for Easter.

Entrance was effected by breaking a pane of glass in the rear door. The stock was found this morning to have been pretty well ransacked, but the thief probably wanted a change of clothing, as no effort was made to disturb the cash drawer or jewelry trinkets. There is no clue to the thief.

LONG BEACH BRINGS.

Affairs on the beach, the Ocean Pier tract are reported active. Much of this is caused by the prospect of the new fireproof hotel and the likelihood of a boulevard along the beach from Terminal Island to Devil's Gate up Alamitos way.

Mr. Julia Woodville has purchased a lot at Locust avenue and Seaside boulevard on which she is planning a three-story brick apartment house to cost $12,000.

Alvin H. Hitchcock, a member of the fire department, while escorting a young lady home from a dance, was severely injured. Near the corner of Locust and First there is deep excavation. His companion slipped on the sidewalk and in saving her, Hitchcock fell in and, striking his head, was stunned and rolled to the bottom, about twelve feet. Rescued by passersby, he was able to go home, but this morning was taken suddenly ill on the street and Dr. Doddworth fears internal injuries.

Rev. Wesley K. Beane this morning at the Methodist parsonage united in marriage a middle-aged couple from Los Angeles. They gave their names as Annie Anderson and Mary Hansen. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for their home in Los Angeles.

The Long Beach basketball team, which has not yet met its opponent, went to Ontario today and added another victory to its credit, beating Ontario by a score of 19 to 10. Much interest is being taken in the contest next Saturday between the Long Beach and the Los Angeles High School team, which will be played at the Marlborough grounds.

The girls will be accompanied by a big delegation of Long Beach supporters.

The Long Beach Chautauque will not go to Huntington Beach. The Chautauque Association is incorporated and its home for fifty years is fixed at Long Beach. It has no connection with the Methodist resort association which has accepted the Huntington Beach proposition for its annual camp meeting.

I was notified this morning that one of the pelicans which live around the wharf was in distress, and bailing a hook with a live fish, W. H. James captured the bird and drew it up on the wharf, where it was found that some evil-disposed person had used a six-inch stick to a string and a fish on the other end and threw it to the pelican, which swallowed the fish, and string down to the stick, which lodged crosswise in its bill. The stick was removed and the bird released.

Henry W. Lawton Camp, sons of Veterans, gave a successful masquerade at Coughran Hall last night. About seventy couples were present. The costumes were varied and fanciful.

COVINA, April 1.—The city has bought for a site for a municipal building, 100x125 feet on East College street near Citrus avenue; consideration named, $1500.

Miss Ida Hamner and Charles Rittenhouse, both of whom are well known in the community, were quietly married in Los Angeles Thursday.

PECULIARLY INJURED.

Boy Wheelman Struck by a Heavy Wagon, Thrown Twenty Feet, Badly Hurt.

Harry Smith, aged 16, whose home is No. 1117 West Pico street, was run down by a heavy wagon of the Day Transfer Company at Eighth and Hill streets yesterday afternoon and received injuries, the like of which the doctors say is seldom found in any case. The boy was on a wheel and the force of the collision threw him twenty feet away from the wheels of the wagon which passed over and wrecked his bicycle.

When he was taken to the Receiving Hospital it was found that in addition to numerous severe bruises, he had sustained a dislocation of the collar bone. Police Surgeon Quint stated that such an injury is very unusual. It frequently happens that the collar bone is fractured but the dislocation of the bone rarely occurs. It will be necessary to operate upon the lad to place the bone back in proper place.

NEW COCKTAIL LAW.

General Obedience to Order of the Police Commissioners—Drinks Taken Standing.

The pinhole brigade stood around dejected and forlorn Saturday night. You can't play pinhole standing up and they found last night that all the tables and the chairs are gone.

Almost every saloon in the city obeyed the order of the Police Commission to the letter. Many saloons have their tables and chairs piled up in back rooms; in others the table-and-chair end of the rooms are fenced off entirely.

The nearest to a violation of the ordinance that could be seen was some in the Spring street saloon where in the front is a bar and the rear a restaurant. In some of these, patrons of the saloon were to be seen sitting at the restaurant tables, not eating. There is nothing in the order of the commission that requires a man in a restaurant to eat.

The Bohemian cafes, where men were to be seen drinking beer without "meals" in front of them; but there was nothing to show that their orders had been sent in.

SAYS IT'S SPITE WORK.

As a result of a business dispute involving upwards of $2000 worth of stock in the Gold Park Consolidated Mining Company, of which he is president, W. E. Wins is to be taken to Indianapolis, to answer to a charge of embezzlement. Sheriff E. G. Loubert of Marion County, Indiana, is now in the accused in a few days. The complaint is James L. Johnson, who forecloses that his career is due to spite and that he will have no difficulty in securing his release in the Indiana courts. In this statement he is supported by Sheriff Loubert. Now Comes the Last Suggestion

We have made strenuous efforts to close out this entire stock before the opening of our elegant new store. Our efforts are wonderfully successful.

We have added nearly a thousand new names to our list of customers in the past two weeks. We will sell to another thousand new people, besides to our many old friends this week. This means that another week will conclude this awful price cutting. We are justified in making these great reductions because positively not an article of our present stock will under any circumstances enter our new store.

It's for you now to make the best of our offer, considering that above all things quality of the very highest order is an attribute of every bit of this stock.

FURNITURE

25 Per Cent Off for Six Days

Through the house from the basement to the top floor this out-and-out reduction from regular prices is made commencing tomorrow morning. This final sweeping cut will enliven the buying, but it will be easy, interesting and profitable to you. The old prices—already low—are unchanged. You get just 25 per cent off on just what you want. It matters not if you want a Tabourette, a magnificent Davenport, a Bedroom Suit or the Furniture for an entire house; the 25 per cent is yours.

CARPETS

15 Per Cent Off for Six Days

A Carpet stock such as has been our custom to carry for many years, embracing all the very latest patterns from the best mills, in which the carpet weavers' art reaches the height of perfection—such is the stock you will have the privilege to select from. You will have the unrestricted choice of Axminsters, Velvets, Body Brussels, Tapestries, etc.—every Carpet in the house. In considering the re-carpeting of your rooms a day's delay of action on this suggestion may cause you a big loss.

CURTAINS

25 Per Cent Off for Six Days

This is the season when house-cleaning is due to receive attention. If you don't take down the old Curtains this week, at least look them over. You will perhaps find that some need replacing. In that case get the new ones now; you'll need them within 30 days. Any kind from the humble cottage Curtain to the Curtain for the palatial home can be bought this week at this price. We actually give you back 25 cents on every dollar's worth purchased in the next six days.

Lineman Comes in Contact With Wire Carrying Twenty-five Thousand Volts and Still Lives.

John Hickey will never have a closer call for his life and live to tell it than he had yesterday afternoon. He is a lineman in the employ of the Pacific Light & Power Company and with several other men was working at one of the company's sub-stations, when he came in contact with an uninsulated portion of a wire carrying a primary current of 25,000 volts. The wire touched him at the shoulder and the arc thus formed burned through his flesh to the bone, literally destroying a large piece of flesh. Hickey was knocked down and fell away from the wire. Had he not been picked up unconscious and his companions thought he was dead. Restoratives were applied and he was taken to the General and Emergency Hospital where Dr. Kuster attended him. The physician stated last night that the patient probably will recover.

MOST WONDERFUL WATCH.

Seven Years Were Spent in Its Construction by Some French Jeweler.

(St. Louis Republic.) All "wonder clocks" or watches on record have been eclipsed by a French chronological creation, which was recently shipped back to Paris from the World's Fair. This is the watch of L. Leroy & Co. of Paris, which is a whole observatory in small compass and has valid claims to the designation of "the most remarkable watch in the world."

Seven years were spent in its construction. It was made in celebration of the 130th anniversary of the house of Leroy, whose founder made watches for the ill-fated Louis XVI and the dukes and gallants of his gay court.

The watch includes 275 pieces and was made at Besancon, France. The decorations on the case of this wonderful watch are finishing touches to the chronological marvel and were executed at Paris by Burdin, according to the designs of Manin.

A catalogue of the mechanical accessories included in this wonder watch is as follows:

- Days of the week, of the month, perpetual calendar of the month, dates for 100 years, moon, seasons, sunrise chronograph, minutes chronograph, hours chronograph, wind-up hand, full striking and alarm, minute repeater on three gongs, boreal sky with sidereal time and stars, astronomical clock, local time of 15 towns, sunrise, sunset, thermometer, hygrometer, barometer, mountain barometer for 5,000 meters, regulating system, compass and the twelve zodiac signs on the case.

TAKEN LOADED WITH PLUNDER.

Mexican Crooks Captured by Officers at Colton.

Identified as Having Robbed Juan Pacheco.

Wanted in Two Counties for Several Crimes.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES)
COLTON, April 1.—Two notorious Mexican burglars, wanted in Riverside for several burglaries, and believed to be the cause of many burglaries in this city, were landed in jail yesterday afternoon.

Constable M. A. Bagley of Colton, Constable Westerfield of Riverside, and J. M. Adkins, Deputy City Marshal at Colton, are the officers who deserved credit for the arrest. They believe they have made no small "catch."

The Mexicans give their names as Miguel Salamanco and Jose Godines.
The officers were standing on the street when they noticed two Mexicans with overcoats and a grip, come from the Pascock alley and proceed down another alley toward the Santa Fe depot. Constable Bagley watched them, and watching, became convinced that they were suspicious characters.

Constable Westerfield said two Mexicans were wanted in Riverside for burglary, and that among other things overcoats had been taken. So at a safe distance the Mexicans were followed to the depot where they had purchased tickets for Arcadia. And straightway they were arrested.

Two followed an examination of their belongings. They had with them several overcoats, and in the grip was a "valise" collection of shoes, wearing aprons and trunks. One Mexican said to have confessed that the goods were stolen.

The two were identified by the Mexican, Juan Pacheco, who was held up yesterday evening in South Colton, and the man who had done the work and taken from him about $15. After this the two captives were hustled down to Riverside, where a goodly number of their wares were recognized as stolen goods. They were placed in the Riverside County Jail as there are two charges of burglary against them in that place.

This morning, Juan Pacheco filed a complaint and a warrant was issued by Justice Hanna for their arrest for robbery.

The capture of these Mexicans is particularly important to Colton people as they have been living here for three months and are believed to be responsible for several burglaries here. M. T.
Bowler, special officer of the Southern Pacific, having received a telegram came up today to see if grips and other things stolen at various times from the depot, might not be traced to these thieves.

Constable Bagley, assisted by Sheriff Colum of Riverside, made a thorough search last evening in the house occupied by the two Mexicans for more and more goods. They found a number of things, some of which were taken in Riverside for identification by persons to that city who have reported goods stolen.

BIG CITRUS EVENT.

Farmers' Institute at Riverside This Week Promises Reward to Growers of Entire Section.

A farmers' institute that is termed the most important ever planned in the history of the citrus growers of Southern California is to be held next Friday and Saturday at Y.M.C.A. at Riverside. It will be conducted by the University representative in Southern California, Prof. A. J. Cook, of Pomona College.

One of the interesting and probably the most important reports that will be presented is that of G. Harold Pugh of Washington, D. C., promo-tor in charge of fruit disease investigation for the United States Department of Agriculture. He will tell Friday afternoon that citrus has had a day of trouble in California, and has been in connection with the picking, marketing and shipping of fruit.

Other addresses on Friday will be by C. E. Ramsey, president of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce; Prof.
Cook, U. S. Treasurer of Santa Paula; and J. C. Thompson of Santa Paula; and A. Little of the Arlington Heights Fruit Company; Newton B. Pierce, pathologist in charge of the Pacific Coast Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture, at Santa Ana; Mrs. Minnie Sherman of Fresno, and by James Mills of Riverside. There will be discussions by prominent men of the papers read.

On Saturday the speakers will include Prof. A. V. Stubbs, director of horticultural sub-stations,
Berkeley; Prof. Cook and President
Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who will tell of the State University's connection with agricultural education.

The Los Angeles Farming and Milling

Company of Los Angeles Have Placed the Largest Order Ever Given in Southern California for Combined Harvesters.

The Best Mfg. Co. of San Leandro, Calif., New Reaps the Results of a Harvesting Contest of 2 Years Ago.
Some two years ago, Mr. L. N. Van Noy, manager of the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company of Los Angeles, Cal., made a proposition to the Best Manufacturing Company of San Leandro and another firm located at Stockton, Cal., who manufacture combine harvesters, that they might do so through a contest of his grain and demonstrate to him as to the machine that would afterwards purchase the results of the contest.

The Best Manufacturing Company of San
Leandro for four combined harvesters.
This demonstration is the entire satisfaction of a number of farmers in Penas-cola, as well as all of Southern California, who were deeply interested in this contest.
The Best Manufacturing Company of San Leandro have not only by name, but by actual test, the best combined harvesters that are being manufactured in the world.

The outcome of this very large sale has been the Best Mfg. Co. of Corvina has placed an order for another steam harvesting outfit, and that the Mfg. Co. of Corvina have taken the advantage of a good proposition and have purchased a steam harvesting outfit as well.

TIED RAKES AND THINGS.

All full of hopes and fears,
When this poor trembling Cake of Ice
Soon melted into tears.

A tired Spade and lovely Rake
Stood in the corner, dreary.
The Spade had on a great brain tag.
The Rake exclaimed, "I'm weary."
And thus they spoke:
"A million years ere we were born
We wandered on from sphere to sphere.
In hopes some factory'd come along
And clothe us for existence here."
And then looked sad.
"There's one thing, tho', we'd like to have."
Now holdly said the Rake,
"If we do go upon that Earth
We must be legitimate."

The Rake his teeth then rattled.
The Spade then said: "I'd like to have"
(While pains were on his stealing) "Some kind of pill or sort of salve
To stop this tired feeling."
Then dug his grave.

ARTISTS OF BUILDING.

Social Meeting and Banquet of Men, Who Design the City's Architecture.

The men who plan and design the great buildings springing up in Los Angeles and Southern California, had their luncheon last night at a feast.
It was a called meeting of the Southern California Chapter, American Institute of Architects, and they passed a jolly social evening at the Cafe Bristol.
President A. F. Rosenheim extended a welcome, expressing pleasure in such a representative gathering. He stated that he loves the profession and the labor and responsibility its practice involves. He expressed a desire to build up a strong organization—one that shall become a potent factor in the development of this rapidly-growing community.

Cecil H. Morgan was selected as toastmaster and a handsome spread was served.
Vice-President John Parkinson responded to the sentiment, "The Duties of Architects." He was followed by Architect A. B. Weston, who spoke on "The American Institute of Architects."

Charles F. Whitteley responded to the toast, "Art in Architecture." Harrison W. Albright on "Concrete Construction." Thomas A. Egan on "The Practical Side of Architecture," and
C. H. Russell, Frank Hudson, Fred L. Roehrig and others followed with short talks.

Those present included: B. B. Bixby,
Cecilia Morgan, J. T. Rosenheim, Harrison Albright, George F. Costerson, Frank D. Hudson, John Parkinson, John P. Krenzel, Robert C. Fer-

WATERWORKS RETIREMENT.
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES)

SAN DIEGO, April 1.—It is officially announced that Messrs. John D. and A.
B. Sprickles are to commence immediately the work of completing the Southern California Mountain Water Company's system, a quarter of a million dollars is to be expended in the undertaking, which is to be conducted with H. N. Savage, who has been connected with the government reclamation service.

The first work will be in connecting the pipe lines with the Cholila Height reservoir, extending from there to the city.

It is expected that water will be ready for delivery to the city before the first of September. The company has sufficient water on the reservoirs to last the city a couple of years. This supply will be drawn upon while the work of building and connecting the big storage dams at Morena and Barrelet is completed. This will occupy about five years. Last summer, during the severest drought, the river at Barrelet ran a stream forty feet wide, and three feet deep.

LITTLE BOY BLUE

His Mother Blows His Horn.
A lady living in Illinois writes about food to a friend whose little girl has a delicate stomach, and we are privileged to quote from her letter:
"The best way to advise you in little Bessie's case is, I feel, to tell you what I did for my little Boy Blue.
He was, like your daughter, very fond of white bread, potatoes and a usual food of the everyday table. His appetite seemed good and he ate freely, but, like little Bessie, he didn't seem to get the proper amount of nourishment out of his food, was puny in body and lacking strength, was peevish and half sick most of the time."
"I was very much worried about him, because I couldn't find the right sort of food for him—the ordinary breakfast foods didn't seem to answer. At last, a few months ago, I determined to try Grape-Nuts. I confess I was almost in despair, and had but little hope that it would prove any benefit to the other prepared foods.
"The result was most surprising.
Boy Blue took to the Grape-Nuts food and it did him good from the beginning. He has gained steadily in weight, strength and good spirits, and

LITTLE BOY BLUE

His Mother Blows His Horn.
A lady living in Illinois writes about food to a friend whose little girl has a delicate stomach, and we are privileged to quote from her letter:
"The best way to advise you in little Bessie's case is, I feel, to tell you what I did for my little Boy Blue.
He was, like your daughter, very fond of white bread, potatoes and a usual
food of the everyday table. His appetite seemed good and he ate freely,
but, like little Bessie, he didn't seem to get the proper amount of nourishment out of his food, was puny in body and lacking strength, was peevish and half sick most of the time."
"I was very much worried about him, because I couldn't find the right sort of food for him—the ordinary breakfast foods didn't seem to answer. At last, a few months ago, I determined to try Grape-Nuts. I confess I was almost in despair, and had but little hope that it would prove any benefit to the other prepared foods.
"The result was most surprising.
Boy Blue took to the Grape-Nuts food
and it did him good from the beginning. He has gained steadily in weight, strength and good spirits, and has taken in food as eagerly as a wild rose. His eyes fairly dance with health and happiness—his peevishness is all gone."
"Then Husband and I both began to eat Grape-Nuts food, and with the best of results. He finds it especially beneficial as a brain food.

habits needs something specially adapted to his condition—much it in Grape-Nuts food, and he says he does better work since he began to SEEKING SCOTT, MYSTERY MAN.

EASTERN THINKS OLD MINER IS A RELATIVE.

San Bernardino County Gold Producer Keeps Skulking of Man Whose Body Was Identified as His. Peris High School Debaters Win. Traction Company Gets Verdict.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 1.—Dr. L. B. Sheeler of Carbondale, Ill., has written here inquiring concerning Walter Scott, the mysterious old mining man, whom the doctor believes is his mother's stepfather, who disappeared from Illinois in 1871. He was heard from in California up to the fall of 1932, when news reached his relatives that he had died. Scott, the miner, answers in some particulars the description of the missing man. He has long been a character on the desert, making his headquarters at Daguerre, from which place he makes frequent trips to his mine, the location of which he refuses to divulge. He always returns to Daguerre well supplied with gold, and for years has been in the habit of sending his concentrates to Philadelphia.

On one of his recent trips to the East he had a sack containing $12,500 stolen from beside him in a passenger coach when near Pittsburgh. The police detectives of that city have since spent many weeks trying to get track of the thieves, but they were never apprehended, nor was any part of the money recovered.

Several months ago Scott had a fight with a rattler on the desert, and managed to apply acid to the wound he received in the arm. He walked to Daguerre, where he received medical treatment. Some time before that a skeleton was found by miners, who positively identified it as that of Scott.

It was carried to Daguerre, and there the merchants also identified it as that of an inquest was being held over the bones, who should ride up but Scott. He took charge of the bones, and inquest and having them articulated, has since kept the skeleton in his Daguerre house.

PERIS WINS IN DEBATE.

Peris and Bernardino met last night here in a debate for the High School trophy known as the Bering cup. Peris winning the decision. During the evening the local enthusiasts created much confusion by persisting in giving their class play at a time when the leader of the visiting school had the floor, preventing him and his associates from responding. The last debate held here was also similarly disturbed, despite the efforts of Principal Brown of the local High School to keep his pupils on their dignity.

COMPANY WINS SUIT.

The jury in the $25,000 damage suit instituted against the San Bernardino Traction Company for the death of Michael Mulvaney, who was killed several months ago in a collision, this morning returned a verdict for the defendant. There were six special points for the jury to decide, all but one being decided against the plaintiff. The suit will not be appealed.

COURT SPEAKS ON MORALS.

L. R. Whittam and Mabel Whittam, plaintiff and defendant respectively in a divorce action, were both denied decrees of divorce yesterday by Judge Oeter, who, in delivering his opinion, explained the morals of society would not permit a decision as prayed for by either of the parties. The couple married at San Diego four years ago when the bride was a 16-year-old school girl, and a separation soon resulted, the young husband declaring that his moral in-law had ordered him away from his wife.

CUPID'S MISTAKES.

Mrs. Lulu Wooding Whitney, daughter of Dr. A. K. Johnson, has commenced action in Los Angeles for divorce, as has also Louise Atwater, both having formerly been society girls here. Mrs. Atwater is the wife of William Alwater of San Francisco, prominent over the state as a traveling salesman for a large firm in the north. Mrs. Whitney is wife of Arthur DuWayne Whitney, vice-president of the Whitney Wooding Trunk Company.

ONTARIO.

FRUIT POPULAR IN EAST.

ONTARIO, April 1.—The Ontario-Guamanga Fruit Exchange will put out about 2300 cars of oranges and lemons this season. The reputation of the Ontario Colony brand is such that imitations have appeared in the eastern markets.

The Chamber of Commerce is issuing considerable literature for the Portland Exposition and expects to send a commission to represent the colony's interests.

Or Monday the High School Trustees must appear before Judge Bledsoe of the Superior Court at San Bernardino and show cause why they should not be enjoined from allowing Miss Mary Corson to attend the Ontario school. Miss Corson is a resident of the Chinese school district. The suit is brought by the Trustees of that district. The attendance there is small and should the average daily attendance fall below twenty the school forfeits state aid.

The Home Telephone Company has had a force of men at work in Ontario the past week. Two long-distance phones were installed.

The following easterners returned to their homes the past week: J. W. Amstutz of Marshall, Mich.; Mrs. A. W. Laidley of Minneapolis, Minn.; and Jack Phelps of Carthage, Ind.; D. Pierce, Chicago.

Mrs. Minnie Daryl has sold her orange grove and residence on East G street and with her mother will leave for Muskogee, Okla.

Mrs. A. P. Chase entertained Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Mae Kernner of Los Angeles.

COLTON.

BUSINESS PROPERTY SELLS.

COLTON, April 1.—The Union block has been sold to M. A. Balesch of Saltman, Idaho; consideration named, $1,000. Mr. Balesch expects to have the building remodeled at once. Architects are working on plans for the second floor, which is to undergo great changes. The walls are to be strengthened so that another story can be added.

J. J. Pouch has leased the Transcontinental Hotel to W. H. Taylor, who came here a short time ago from Dalt, Tex.

BEEES BARRED BY BUSINESS ONLY.

RIVERSIDE CITY ORDINANCE IS HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Court Takes the Position That Municipal Law May Forbid Keeping Honeybees in Town's Trading Center but Not on Bare Hillsides or the Outskirts.

RIVERSIDE, April 1.—Judge Noyes this morning handed down a decision in the city bee case. In this action Fassel, was suing for a reversal of the judgement of the justice court, when he was fined $10 for keeping bees inside city limits contrary to ordinance. Judge Noyes declared the ordinance unconstitutional, holding that it would be proper to restrict beekeeping in the business section, but that it is manifestly unjust to prevent a bee farmer doing business on the bare hillsides or the outskirts of the municipality.

PRESBYTERIANS MEET.

The annual meeting of Arlington Presbyterian Church was held last night, when encouraging reports were received of the church's condition. The ladies of the church served supper. The reports showed that the church has a membership of seventy-six and that it raised for the last fiscal year $2708; an average per capita of $23.50. D. W. McLeod and Martin Hoover were elected elders to succeed themselves for a term of three years and the following trustees were elected: C. A. Crosby, C. L. McFarland, W. F. Montague, S. A. Crawford and J. M. Oldendorf.

HIGH SCHOOL VS ELKS.

Next Monday afternoon the baseball championship of Riverside will be determined, when the Elks and High School teams will play for championship honors. The first game played a few weeks ago was won by the High School nine by the very close score of 2 to 1. It will be a pitcher's game, Hudson being in the box for the High School and Hoop for the Elks. The two teams will be made up as follows:

Elks: Catcher Hudson (cap.), Hoop first base, Marshall second base, Moulton third base, Brewer shortstop, Hoop left field, Nye center field, Taylor right field, McDonald.

Don't go East, go to Coronado.

SANTA ANA.

PROHIBITION FIGHT WARM.

SANTA ANA, April 1.—The campaign for prohibition is growing warmer as the election draws near, and as the work of the last week there will be a series of meetings held in the operahouse, which has been rented in advance by the no-saloon people. The first speaker will be Dr. E. K. Chapman, who will address two meetings tomorrow.

The chariot races held this afternoon at the local track, were very slimly attended.

C. W. Raney, proprietor of the Saddle Rock restaurant, pleaded not guilty this afternoon to the charge of selling liquor and his trial was set for the 20th inst. Herman Dasque, proprietor of the Santa Ana Cafe, also pleaded not guilty, and his case will come up for trial on the 17th inst.

THE TOWER OF SILENCE.

Far from the world-wide tumult, Far from the night and day, Far from the groans and laughter, Of the men that love and slay, Meek and vacant of seeming, Gladly would I ascend The lone, tall Tower of Silence, Where the sea and sunset blend.

There the far-left tumult rises Not even to half the height, But falls like a bird wing-wearied, Flapping an air too light;

And the night and the day ne'er follow, But mix to a twilight tone, Holy, of high remembrance—

Such, happily, as thou hast known.

And there in the silence utter, My soul would beat as a heart, I should have proof of the spirit Greater than those who see!

And the sins I left at the threshold, And the thoughts that might not 'breathe In the heights the world overlooking, These should never besiege me, To the earth come back, who had known The vast 'Illustration of Silence, At his altar high and lone!

ORMOND DATES.

FOR BEACH RACES.

There will be no mix-up about the Florida tidal conditions next year. The United States government has been called upon to give an official pronouncement on the subject, and if the tides do not rise and fall at the hours indicated there will be somebody in authority to fall back on and uphold. The Department of Commerce and Labor has furnished a tide table for January and February, 1906, and the Ormond Racing Association has accordingly selected the dates January 22 to 27, inclusive, for their tournament.

BEGAN TOO EARLY.

FITZ TALKS FIGHTING.

Bob Fitzsimmons recently made an interesting statement, in which he declares that the reason that so many pugilists break down while still in the prime of life is because of the fact that they enter the ring before they arrive at the age of maturity.

Old Bob modestly cites his own case. He never did any serious training work until he was 23 years old, and as a consequence, at the age of 45 (that's all he will own up to, at least) he is still good and strong. He cites many illustrations to prove his theory—McGovern, champion featherweight at 20, and at 22 beaten by Young Corbett, himself only 21 at the time; then Corbett, now at the age of 28, a back number, when he fought with Young Corbett, Tommy Feltz, bantam champion at 25, and "all in" five years later. Eddie Hamilton, only 18 when he fought his memorable battle with Young Corbett, and today, only two years later, a second-rater.

SOME NEW AUTOS.

While abroad W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., is adding to his stock of automobiles. He stopped at the Mors works on his way through France to give his final instructions on the type of coach work he desires for the forty-horse power Mors car which he ordered from M. Mors a few weeks ago, during the latter's visit to this country. Next he returned to M. Charley, and purchased from him a sixty-horse power Mercedes, in which he is now touring in the vicinity of Nice. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., also purchased a Mercedes from M. Charley, a 25-horse power vehicle, with a Kellner hansom cab body.

ROUGH AUTOMOBILE TRIP.

SANTA BARBARA, April 1.—Country roads since the storm have been in a very bad condition in many places along the coast, and automobiles are causing about attempting long trips. The first party to come by auto from San Francisco since the storm consisted of E. B. Bronson and Hoffman Richardson, both of this city, who have just purchased a large Cadillac in the vicinity of Santa Barbara, and report having had a very rough trip.

Auto Club in Egypt.

The land of the Pharaohs now has an automobile club. Recently a number of automobilists of Cairo, Egypt, met at Shepherd's Hotel and effected an organization which is expected to become a vigorous and active body. There are a number of automobiles owned in Egypt, and the number is growing rapidly. The Sirdar, at Khartoum, drives one, and many members of the Khedive's family in Cairo are passionately devoted to the sport.

I Offer a Cure or No Pay

IT IS TO WEAK MEN

IT IS TO WEAK WOMEN

This Belt Is Yours on Trial

I believe in a fair deal. If you have a good thing and know it yourself, give others a chance to enjoy it in a way they can afford.

I've got a good thing. I'm proving that every day. I want every weak, puny man, every man with a pain or an ache to get the benefit of my invention, and ask him only to protect me.

Some men have doctored a good deal—some have used other ways of applying electricity—without getting cured, and they are chary about paying money now until they know what they are paying for.

If you are of that kind of a man, this belt is yours without a cent of cost to you until you are ready to say to me, "Doctor, you have earned your price, and here it is."

That's trusting you a good deal and it is showing a good deal of confidence in me. But I know that most men are honest, especially when they have been cured of a serious ailment, and very few will impose on me.

As to what my belt will do, I know that it will cure wherever there is a possible chance, and there is a good chance in nine cases out of ten.

So you can afford to let me try, anyway, and I'll take the chances. If you are not sick, don't trifle with me, but if you are, you owe it to yourself and to me, when I make an offer like this, to give me a fair trial.

I want you to know what I have done for others. E. Hayling, Cucamonga, Cal., says: "When I came to you I suffered severe pains in my arms and legs, and a weakness had induced a case of varicose. I am now a well man."

It Is the Duty of Americans to Fight the Trust Evil

THE CITIZENS OF LOS ANGELES HAVE A DANGEROUS ENEMY

Both men and women should read these facts thoughtfully.

Trusts have proved in every case a detriment to public welfare and to prosperity.

The United States government is even now waging a war against trusts, and such men as our worthy President, after investigating the purposes of trusts, have determined that they must be abolished.

Right now in Los Angeles there exists one of the worst and deadly types of monopolies—the furniture trust.

Should this institution succeed in getting a monopoly of the furniture business in Southern California every man in every walk of life would suffer in consequence.

This side of the question is, of course, purely theoretical because, as a matter of certainty, the Los Angeles Furniture Trust is determined to compete fairly.

However, the intention of the trust is alive and it becomes the duty of every American man to insist that his wife and family keep away from trust stores, for every dollar spent with this monopoly helps to keep it in existence.

Let us point out some of the actual results since the furniture trust was formed in Los Angeles, and after considering them decide for yourselves whether or not this furniture monopoly should be allowed to continue in business.

The trust has discharged salaried men, drivers, finishers, bookkeepers, advertising men and other employees, thereby depriving men of a livelihood, and compelling many of these men to move to other cities. The result of this means less business for Los Angeles, as well as hardship for those who have been directly concerned.

The trust has compelled dozens of its remaining salesmen to take vacations every two weeks.

The trust has actually raised prices from 25 to 50 per cent. on furniture and carpets. It makes no difference to the trust whether you buy your goods in store.

We have inside information which leads us to know that the trust may soon become involved in the gravest law suit, which may result in its destruction.

Should this take place it is almost certain that all the hundreds of families who are buying furniture at trust stores on credit would be deprived of their holdings, and lose outright all the money paid to these illegal institutions.

We are fighting the Public's Battle

Our business has more than doubled since the formation of the trust. But we have cut prices from 25 to 40 per cent. We are gratified and pleased with the splendid support given us by the public. Manufacturers, instead of refusing to sell goods to us have been eager to make every concession in order to secure our orders.

Whatever you need in the way of furniture, carpets, draperies, stores, or other house furnishings you owe it to your own interest and to the city of Los Angeles to come to Brent's. You will not lose by such support, but in addition to doing an act of patriotism you will also be benefiting your own pocketbook.

Cut Prices on Floor Coverings

In conjunction with the remnant sale we will quote the most unusual prices on all kinds of floor coverings. There is sure to be a rush, so wise housekeepers will come as early in the day as possible.

The balance of our immense stock of Axminster carpets, all styles, all colors. Any quantity, per yard $1.05

$1.10 velvet carpet, two patterns only; scroll pattern, beautiful design. Any quantity, per yard $1.05

$1.20 velvet carpet, six patterns only; floral, scroll and oriental designs. Any quantity you want, per yard $1.05

$1.30 Axminster carpet, three choice patterns only; beautiful color, per yard $1.05

During the last few months in which we have been waging the war in our carpet department the business has grown to such an extent that hundreds of short lengths of carpets, matting, etc., have accumulated.

This is an opportunity that seldom occurs and there is scarcely a housekeeper in the city who can fail to profit by the big remnant sale which will begin Monday morning.

The remnants come all lengths, many of them are enough to carpet a room.

Matting, 5c, 7c, 9c, 10c and 11c per yard.

Ingrain carpet, 30c, 35c and 40c per yard.

Velvet carpet 50c, 60c, 70c and 80c the yard.

Axminster carpet, 50c, 60c and 75c the yard.

Brussels carpet, 35c, 40c, 45c and 50c per yard.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

BREVITIES.

In the Angeles Hotel banquet hall on Monday, April 3, there will be an exhibition of the largest and finest collection of water-color paintings by the most celebrated artists of Europe and America. Never before outside of New York City, has a collection of this merit been shown, and it is due to the enterprise of Messrs. Ray Skelton & Co., the importers and collectors, that this opportunity is given to the art lovers of Los Angeles to see the works of masters in aquarelle. Among the most prominent of the artists is an oriental by Simonetti, acknowledged to be his masterpiece. Charlet is represented by two most beautiful examples. Paul Piss, by a fine oil picture now on the market. Pavesi, by one of his best cardinal pictures; Inghis, by a magnificent oriental subject, and two Italian figure pieces. There are so many others that it is impossible to mention all separately, as about 150 artists are represented in this collection. Messrs. Skelton & Co., desiring to become acquainted with the art patrons of Los Angeles have determined to offer the entire collection at an unreserved auction, and the sale which will be for three days only will commence on Monday afternoon at 2:15 p.m., and will continue in the evening at 8:15 p.m., and two following days at the same hours. The auction will be conducted by the well-known art auctioneer, Mr. A. W. Londerback. The exhibition, which is free to the public, will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday, April 3. The auction will commence promptly at 2:15 p.m. the same day. Nobody who is at all interested in art should miss seeing this magnificent collection, as it is certainly the finest ever shown here.

Mrs. N. E. B. who is now permanently established in her new store, No. 315 West Third st., announces to the ladies of Los Angeles and vicinity that although her millinery opening which was held last Monday and Tuesday surpassed any former display, she is constantly receiving from the fashion centers latest novelties, and designs in dress and street hats. At her store will be found artists who understand and make a study of the special colors and lines most becoming to each patron. Absolutely no time or expense is spared to produce all that is up to date and reduced to the medium-grade as well as in the higher-grade millinery.

Mr. Carl A. Freyer desires to announce to the public that he has opened a studio in room one, Southern California Music Company's building, 232 South Broadway, where he will give instruction in piano, harmony and composition on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Mr. Freyer was for twelve years professor of music in the University of Kansas, and pianist for Miss Clara Francis during her tour of Southern California and has been heard in this city recently as accompanist for Mr. Kreisler, violinist, during the artist's recent concert at Simpson Auditorium.

One of the principal necessities of a job, is that it is becoming a fact that the modern worker makes this, you get exactly what you want, besides you only pay for what you get. LICENSE DODGERS CHEATING THE CITY.

Lodging-houses, Vegetable Hucksters and Billiard Hall Proprietors Evade Tax Collector—Thousands of Dollars Kept Out of Treasury.

LICENSE dodgers are beating the city out of thousands of dollars every month. A few weeks ago came the news that the Angelus Hotel was not paying its hotel license. Investigation shows that this establishment is but one of many that have escaped paying their share of the license tax.

In justice to the Angelus it should be said that its failure to pay the license was apparently an oversight, as the house was at the time paying a billiard and saloon license.

There are, however, hundreds of persons and corporations in this city who are constantly planning and scheming to escape the payment of the license.

All too often their efforts are rewarded with success. There are, for example, something like seven hundred hotels and lodging-houses in the city. The tax is collected from a hundred.

The year. The license has been reduced recently to take effect the first of the month. It is said the junk men have agreed to pay from now on but those who have had experience with their tactics are not sure that conditions so far as they are concerned will be much better than they have been.

THE FAKERS FAKE. Fortune tellers, mediums and other like fakers need no license in the city of "going up" the officials in the license collection business. There are hundreds of these people in the city who are liable for the $15 a month license. There are however but comparatively few who pay.

Although there is a provision of the ordinance requiring all express wagons to carry a number to be furnished by the city the order is not obeyed by some of the large transfer concerns and there is a suspicion that some of them are running several more wagons than they are paying license for.

Until within a few months one of the tor has one inspector and three collectors to make all of these collections and look after newcomers so that they do not evade the provisions of the license ordinance. With such a small force at his disposal the license dodgers have found it an easy matter to avoid contributing to the city's wealth to any great extent.

PLAYGROUND ABOUT READY.

LITTLE FOLKS TO HAVE SWAY NEXT JUNE.

C. B. Raitt, a Stanford Athlete, Appointed Superintendent of Grounds. Boys and Girls to Rule Over the Domain With a Court of Their Own.

Here's good news to be heralded throughout the length and breadth of Boyleville!

In June the Children's Playground, No. 1, will be prepared for the influx of little folk awaiting the announcement that all things are in readiness for the fun.

The juveniles surrounding the new playgrounds can scarcely keep "hands off" even now.

And as the basketball courts, handball courts, swings, teterboards, merry-go-rounds, and "piles and captivating doll houses assume form, reconnoitering parties stray into the forbidden gardens to take surreptitious rides, and swings, or start up little games to run right merrily until the stern voice of the building contractor issues the ukase of banishment. From the point of view of Boyleville the place is too attractive to be let alone.

The week just closed has witnessed the signing of contracts for another building for the playground—the most important of the group—the gymnasium, and work on this will be begun this week. By the time it is completed it is expected that all other parts of the playground will be in readiness.

The gymnasium will be 40x60 feet, with sixteen-foot inside height. It will have open sides, and the roof will be supported on handsome iron posts. Within this pavilion-sym will be placed the latest and most desirable equipment for athletic work, and as soon as the park is opened to the public classes will be instructed by competent teachers.

"We plan to have trees, vines and flowers everywhere they can exist without being killed by the youngsters," said the superintendent yesterday.

C. B. Raitt has been appointed superintendent of the Children's Playground, No. 1, under the civil-service order, which seems to hold such a marvelous fascination over the minds of the melodramatic loving public.

The other plans thrilling situations where the hero rushes in just in the nick of time to save the beautiful heroine from a fate worse than death at the hands of the heavy "villain."

These she explains to her husband, with whom she collaborates in the writing of plays of the "Past Mail" order, which seem to hold such a marvelous fascination over the minds of the melodramatic loving public.

Mrs. Carter came up from Redondo yesterday, and went to the Angelus for a brief stay before starting on her return journey to Chicago. She expects to remain in San Francisco several days and then go on to Salt Lake, where Mr. Carter will meet her.

Asked about her work while sojourning at Redondo, Mrs. Carter was reticent, disclaiming any real ability in the line of play writing.

"Oh, yes; I plan things for my husband's plays," she said; "but he does all of the writing. How funny it seems to be furnishing sensational thrills for a morbidly-curious public, but such plays are demanded of Mr. Carter, and he must furnish them."

He is now writing a new play, entitled "Bradford's Hope," which is something of a new departure from his old style. The play will be staged by Stair & Havlin, and produced in New York soon.

"But let's talk about a more interesting subject," said the handsome Chicago woman. "I never did like to say myself for I have accomplished so little," she said, deprecatingly.

"Mrs. Harrison is the interesting character," she went on gaily, "she is writing a new book for children, and she has gained the inspiration for her story from the surroundings at Redondo. You know her two books, 'Prince Silver Wings' and 'The Star Fairies' were made up of stories which she had invented to amuse her two children, Carter and Edith. She wrote them down in order to remember them when soothing the young hopefuls with recitals of the doings in Fairyland; and finally a friend persuaded her to send them to a publisher. McClurg & Co. snapped up the stories long before you knew that Mrs. Carter Harrison wrote them. Now they want more, and Mrs. Harrison is busily engaged writing a new series."

The difficulties over getting possession of the lots held by the Jerry Moulton estate have been adjusted.

Hucksters, of one and two stories, accused of dodging the license collector.

In other lines the showing is nearly as bad. Who is responsible for this unsatisfactory state of affairs?

Everyone in any way connected with the collection of city licenses declares that he is doing all he can, but that the other fellow is not doing his share.

The license department says that its force is too small to cope with the problem unsaid.

The police department, every regular member of which is by ordinance made an assistant inspector of licenses, declares that the regulations are changed so often that the department is completely at sea as to how best to help on the work.

According to a member of the force long in the service, an old man has no advantage over the rankiest novice. "As soon as we become familiar with the provisions of an ordinance it is either repealed or amended," said he.

THEIR TRICKS. Devious are the ways in which the dodgers get ahead of the city authorities.

The vegetable peddlers have the smoothest trick of all and play it most successfully.

A license for selling fruit and vegetables is $5 per month. Fruit alone is $1. Every vegetable wagon is required to carry a number to be furnished by the City Clerk. A man who wishes to sell vegetables as well as fruit goes to the clerk's office, takes out a $5 license and thus secures his number. Next month he takes out a fruit license under another name, but still keeps the number on his wagon. Police officers, seeing the number on the wagon, take it for granted that the man is paying a vegetable license and as long as he can show a license of the current month he is unmolested.

With the exception of a very few who are comparatively new in the business there is not a white man in the city paying the vegetable license of $5 a month. All of the Chinese vendors pay the vegetable license. They are not "onto the dodge" and it is considered doubtful if they could make it work if they were.

Even those who substitute the $1 for the $5 license do not stop there. They only pay the small tax spasmodically. They run along for months at a time until held up by some official and threatened with arrest. Then they take out a license for a month, only to be held up again as soon as it expires.

In the suburban districts men peddle almost from one year's end to another without ever paying a license at all. Then there are hundreds of peddlers—here today nobody knows where tomorrow—who never pay a cent.

Among this class are the vendors of oranges and other culled fruit from the dumps of the big packing establishment.

Masterful evaders are the junk men. There are over 100 junk wagons in the city. Not more than a dozen have paid a cent of license since the first of biggest billiard and pool rooms in the city was only paying on one-half as many tables as were in use.

Of the army of peddlers of every description who make themselves a nuisance to the housekeepers of the city not one in a dozen is equipped with the necessary permit. They seldom go into the business portions of the city but ply their trade in the outskirts and thinly settled parts of the town.

There is in fact scarcely any business subject to license conducted outside of the main business thoroughfares in which there is not a large proportion who pay no revenue to the city.

In the business section proper the collections are much better in proportion than in the residence and semi-business districts. This is in a large measure due to the efficiency of half a dozen police officers who keep sharp lookout for infractions upon the license ordinance.

All policemen are by ordinance made assistant inspectors of licenses and are ordered to report any persons on their beats who are not paying.

POLICEMEN'S DUTY. This little known or heeded provision of the license ordinance makes the duty of the policemen perfectly plain.

All police officers are hereby appointed assistant inspectors of licenses and in addition to their several duties as police officers, are hereby required to examine all places of business and persons in their respective beats liable to pay a license, and to see that such licenses are taken out.

"Said police officers as such assistant inspectors of licenses shall make out once a month a list of persons, firms or corporations carrying on business within their respective beats and having no license, with their address, and deliver such list, carefully and legibly written to the City Clerk and also report to the City Clerk the names of all such doing business without a license immediately upon the fact coming to their knowledge."

"Any police officer failing or neglecting to more than thirty days to report any person, firm or corporation who or which is engaged in carrying on business without having paid the requisite license, shall be guilty of neglect of duty, and be either suspended from duty or dismissed from the police force, in the discretion of the Board of Police Commissioners."

The Chief of Police is hereby directed to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

Although the ordinance requires every police official to furnish the City Clerk with a list of all persons on his beat having no license this provision has never been carried out. No such list has ever been filed with the clerk.

There are about 1400 licenses issued every month. Each quarter the number is increased to something over 2000. The collections average $25,000 a month. The Tax and License has many plans made for the interests of the children.

Mr. Raitt was formerly a Stanford football team. Afterwards he was in gymnasium work and athletic director in the schools at San Bernardino. Mr. and Mrs. Raitt will reside in the cottage on the grounds and keep a strict supervision over the occupants of the playgrounds.

It is the intention of the superintendent to organize the lads and lassies into various clubs and teams for game practice, and to endeavor to establish an esprit de corps which will tend to elevate all the sports of the new playground.

The playgrounds are located between Violet and Atlantic streets, and east of Mateo street. They comprise half a block, and lie in one of the most thickly-populated sections of the city. It is estimated that within the territory immediately around the new park there are fully 500 children, while four public schools are within easy walking distance.

SMART WOMEN, BUSY WINTER.

Two Chicago Society Leaders Work in Southland.

Bookmaking and Playwriting Down at Redondo.

Achievement of Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Harrison.

Instead of burning up their time in the pursuit of the pleasures that appeal to the majority of the fair sex, two charming Chicago women, Mrs. Carter Harrison, wife of the Windy City's strenuous Mayor, and Mrs. Lincoln J. Carter, wife of the producer of melodramatic thrills, have been writing books and plays since they came to Mrs. Lincoln J. Carter, full figure, and Mrs. Carter Harrison.

Southern California, several weeks ago, and went to unostentatious Redondo to pass the winter months.

But what a difference between the results of the women's work! They are steadfast friends, and in Chicago they belong to the same little set out on the South Side. One writes fairy stories for the children, and does it so well that thousands of bright-eyed youngsters throughout the country listen in wonder and amazement to the magic words falling from nurse's lips as she reads extracts from "Prince Silver Wings" or "The Star Fairies."

The other plans thrilling situations where the hero rushes in just in the nick of time to save the beautiful heroine from a fate worse than death at the hands of the heavy "villain."

These she explains to her husband, with whom she collaborates in the writing of plays of the "Past Mail" order, which seem to hold such a marvelous fascination over the minds of the melodramatic loving public.

Mrs. Carter came up from Redondo yesterday, and went to the Angelus for a brief stay before starting on her return journey to Chicago. She expects to remain in San Francisco several days and then go on to Salt Lake, where Mr. Carter will meet her.

Asked about her work while sojourning at Redondo, Mrs. Carter was reticent, disclaiming any real ability in the line of play writing.

"Oh, yes; I plan things for my husband's plays," she said; "but he does all of the writing. How funny it seems to be furnishing sensational thrills for a morbidly-curious public, but such plays are demanded of Mr. Carter, and he must furnish them."

He is now writing a new play, entitled "Bradford's Hope," which is something of a new departure from his old style. The play will be staged by Stair & Havlin, and produced in New York soon.

"But let's talk about a more interesting subject," said the handsome Chicago woman. "I never did like to say myself for I have accomplished so little," she said, deprecatingly.

"Mrs. Harrison is the interesting character," she went on gaily, "she is writing a new book for children, and she has gained the inspiration for her story from the surroundings at Redondo. You know her two books, 'Prince Silver Wings' and 'The Star Fairies' were made up of stories which she had invented to amuse her two children, Carter and Edith. She wrote them down in order to remember them when soothing the young hopefuls with recitals of the doings in Fairyland; and finally a friend persuaded her to send them to a publisher. McClurg & Co. snapped up the stories long before you knew that Mrs. Carter Harrison wrote them. Now they want more, and Mrs. Harrison is busily engaged writing a new series."

The difficulties over getting possession of the lots held by the Jerry Moulton estate have been adjusted.

Thousands of Dollars Offered at a Los Angeles Bank After Lists Had Closed.

Is there money in Southern California waiting good investment? The response to the opening of subscription lists for the new Jap Bond drive answers this question. More than $100,000 were offered for subscriptions to the bonds after the lists had been closed because all the bonds allotted to this city had been taken up.

The Farmers and Merchants' National Bank handled the subscriptions, it being one of the two financial institutions on the Pacific Coast which were designated for this purpose. At the time of closing the lists, last Thursday evening, there had been subscribed for the bonds the sum of $100,000, coming from various sections of Southern California. Several of the banks in the larger towns were among the subscribers.

Dispatches from New York state that the entire amount of the loan apportioned to America has been oversubscribed, so that on the amount of $75,000,000 bonds offered the total subscriptions will amount to almost $100,000,000.

It is estimated that 15,000 could be stated without difficulty and in a space making it possible to hear the seats will be roofed over with canvas. In case no lease can be had, the Chute Park scheme plan will be applied to some other park.

In the literature being sent out as a "taster" is an excerpt from a sermon by Rev. Robert J. Burdette on a midwinter night in Southern California. In one corner of it is his quotation from the letter sent to the committee by Dr. Clark: "Personally I regard Los Angeles as one of the most beautiful places in the world and I have seen many lovely spots on this earth."

On the front of it is this word of counsel and warning: "From now on we meet in Baltimore, make this watchword 'Los Angeles in '07.' This is the city you have been wanting to see for the past ten years. Everybody wants to. Now is your opportunity. Just vote in the international convention in 1907 to meet with us."

This has been sent out to all the State associations asking their advice and opinion of the proposition. Many favorable replies. Maryland, where the convention is to be held this year has replied in favor of giving it to Los Angeles in '07.

BOND ELECTION.

Vote Canvassed by School Board—Superintendents Will Take Matter Up Next.

The Board of Education met yesterday afternoon and completed the formal canvass of the votes cast at the recent bond election for the Los Angeles school district. There was practically no change in the results as announced in The Times the day after the election. The official report gives the common school bond figures as follows:

For the issue of $100,000 bonds, 2579; against, 192; total vote, 2771. For the issue of High School bonds to the amount of $200,000, 2441; against, 199; total vote, 2640. The Board of Education having made the formal canvass, the next move will come from the County Supervisors, who will act as in the case of country school district bonds.

LOOKS BRIGHT TO ENDEAVORERS.

THEIR NEXT HUGE GATHERING MAY BE HELD HERE.

Assurances from All Over the Land That the Young Christians Want to Rendezvous in Los Angeles Next Time—Committee at Work to Get the Honor.

Providence seems to be smiling on the efforts of Los Angeles to bring the Christian Endeavor convention here in 1907.

The committee having in charge, E. C. Lyon, F. D. H. Moots and Paul C. Brown, are receiving assurances and encouragement from all over the United States. They are armed with letters from the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association to the trustees of the Christian Endeavor Association and with a letter from Francis H. Clark, president of the association, expressing his pleasure at receiving the invitation to hold the convention here two years hence. Literature is also being prepared.

The fight will be made before the board of 100 trustees at the coming Endeavor convention in Baltimore next July.

It will be a tough fight, as both Minneapolis and Seattle are trying vigorously for the convention.

If Los Angeles wins, it will be the biggest convention ever held here. The big ferry building scheme will mean that a week after it was over. The trunks were absolutely lost for weeks. The big ferry building scheme will mean that a week after it was over. The trunks were absolutely lost for weeks.

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

"RAILROAD ROW" TO TAKE WING.

MOVE PROPOSED TO SIXTH AND SPRING STREETS.

Agents of Various Lines Interested in Plan for Common Location—The Santa Fe Seeks New Quarters for Ticket and Freight Offices—Colorado Midland's Agency.

"Railroad row" is stretching its wings for flight.

If a movement now under way is carried through, the city passenger and freight offices of the various big railroads will establish headquarters in a common location, where it will be but a step from one office to another.

An option has been obtained on the entire lower floor of the Harman building, now in course of construction at the southeast corner of Sixth and Spring streets. The final selection of this location, as well as the decision to move at all, rests with the railroad agents. They have not yet reached a decision.

With but few exceptions the different agencies now are located on either side of Spring street between Second and Third. The New York Central is on Broadway, south of Third street, and the Milwaukee is in a relative position on Spring street while several roads have offices on Third street or in upper floors of downtown buildings.

The city office of the Santa Fe must be moved within a little more than a year from the first floor of the Wilcox building at Second and Spring streets, where it has been established nine years. The First National Bank, which has the remainder of the first floor of that building, comes into possession of the corner room in July of next year, and the Santa Fe is in quest of other quarters. It may join the movement to Sixth and Spring streets, although this has not been determined.

High rents are given as one reason for the proposed move of all the local offices. In some instances the railroads pay $100 or more per month for the space they occupy in central portions of the Spring-street block. Many of the lines have no long-term leases and have been obliged to pay increasing rates from year to year. Another argument advanced in favor of the change is the desirability of the concentration of the various offices, experiences in San Francisco, Chicago and other cities being cited in support of this movement.

Should the move be made, it is expected that a long lease will be made of new quarters at a considerable saving in rent, and with other advantages to the interests involved.

AFTER NEW BUSINESS.

COLORADO MIDLAND AGENCY. The prospective early opening of the Salt Lake line has brought to Los Angeles still another railroad agency. The Colorado Midland has opened a district passenger and freight office at No. 121 West Third street, Stinson Block, and will go after a share of the business that will move through the Ogden gateway in connection with the new Clark road.

Malone Joyce, formerly traveling passenger agent of the line at San Francisco, has been appointed district freight and passenger agent of the company at this point and will look after its interests in this territory. E. V. Musciville, until recently connected with the Burlington, is Mr. Joyce's assistant.

The Colorado Midland has a short line from Salt Lake and Ogden to Colorado Springs and Denver, and with numerous eastern connections and a short line to the Coast, will pull for business that heretofore has been denied it to a great extent.

BANCROFT HERE. SALT LAKE MAINSPRING. W. H. Bancroft of Salt Lake City, first vice-president of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, and vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, is in Los Angeles for a brief business visit in connection with the new Clark line. He arrived in a special car Friday night, being accompanied for a part of the trip over the new road by General Manager R. E. Wells.

Although subjected to delays by construction trains, the special train bearing the railroad officials made a fast run, covering the distance from Chicago, 467 miles, in less than fifteen hours. Mr. Bancroft would make no promises as to the opening of the line for traffic, but said its formal transfer from the construction company was expected within a very short time.

Danderine

 GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR AND WE CAN PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor. That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

Dear Doctor Knowlton:—
 You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.
 I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it. Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.
 Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.
FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

The Lancer.

A TWENTY-TWO the passionate lover rushes into court and implores a writ of habeas corpus to enable him to make the fair one his. At forty-four the bored benedict strolls languidly into court and requests a decree that shall enable him to put the faded one aside. Convenient divorce law!

The most sacred safeguard interposed between the people and their punishment is the Common Law precept that the accused shall be held to be innocent until he has been proved guilty. It is the very keynote of Justice.

So in the matter of the death of Margaret Birnie, young Barbe Hook is not guilty of manslaughter-as yet. Whatever may be the prejudice of a pedestrian public against man-killing automobilists as a class, and however honestly come by, it must be borne in mind that this rich young man is innocent of human slaughter until a fair trial has shown him to be guilty and a jury has clinched the conclusion.

But one offense he has committed, by confession out of his own mouth at the coroner's inquest, and it is a serious one: He and his companion, Rife, took two shop-girls, sisters aged 19 and 17 years, on a Sunday-afternoon tour in the country and piled them with whisky in flasks. Yet beyond doubt young Mr. Rife and youthful Mr. Hook would hotly resent the charge, that they were guilty of manslaughter. Nor does The Lancer desire to raise the point. The facts speak out for themselves.

This much, however, he will say, that had fate made him a mother with daughters, he would negotiate a family understanding whereby the character and habits of certain young men would effectively bar them from further acquaintance with those daughters. That would be a wholesale delay. The passing of a whisky-flask from lip to lip never yet fortified feminine behavior nor chastened the rivalry of man.

A jury in the Circuit Court of New Jersey taking its cue from the judge's charge, has decided that the added happiness of being able to absorb thirty instead of eighteen glasses of beer a day is worth $1000 the absorbent-one Louis Guber. Hence damages in that amount were awarded. Guber having sued the Camden and Suburban Railway Company on account of an accident which reduced his guzzling capacity as indicated.

No comment.

The Hon. John M. Harlan of Chicago, who may be the next Mayor of that disastrous city, in a recent speech to the young men of the municipality branded the mountebank Hearst in the following clean-cut words of characterization:

"This defamer of character, this man who is nourished wholly on lies, this man who breeds the most vicious lies, who, if his digestive organization were equal to the undertaking, would eat lies; this man who blackguards McKinley, Roosevelt and Deussen; this marauding vicious creature that blackens character he cannot hope for himself. It would appear, then, that the main difference between Judge Harlan and many thousands of American citizens is that he has uttered what they had merely thought."

Few acts of public regulation in recent years have aroused keener interest and provoked livelier differences of opinion, in Los Angeles, than the decision of the Police Commission requiring saloon-keepers to remove chairs, tables and all games excepting billiards, pool and bowling from their premises.

Immense Amount of Wrongly-addressed Mail Matter Received in Los Angeles.

During the month of March there reached the local postoffice, wrongly addressed, 234,171 pieces of mail matter!

It is doubtful if this record for mistakes can be even equaled anywhere else in the United States, in a city whose size is anywhere near that of Los Angeles. Of these 160,023 were letters, while the package and paper errors amounted up to 74,128.

Of all these, 31,724 pieces were forwarded, 16,628 correct addresses were carefully searched out in the city directory, and the balance is held at the general delivery until final disposal. The valiant work of the department in straightening out this terrific tangle, while very efficient, has created a strain that is almost unbearable, according to Mr. Flint. To the tourists the postmaster lays up most of these postal sins.

ANNUAL PURCHASING TOUR. F. J. Gunther, buyer of the toy and doll department at Hamburg's, left Saturday for Europe on his annual purchasing trip and will visit the manufacturing centers of Berlin, Leipzig, Nurnberg, Puerth, Sonneberg and Paris. This progressive firm is the only one on the Pacific Coast that sends a representative yearly to the European market for the toys and dolls that make child life happy, and the wealthy class of Los Angeles do not find it necessary to send to Eastern cities for these high priced Christmas gifts. Such progressive merchandising is one of the features making this a cosmopolitan city of the first class.

THE SHAME OF IT. A good-looking woman in widow's weeds and rather handsome dress was brought to the Police station yesterday crazy drunk. She was unable to give the name of her husband, was streaming down her back; her widow's cap with the long veil was dangling from a single hair pin. She was too drunk to give her name. She was found in a restaurant on Second street, fallen asleep over a table.

A Correction. In reference to the decorating and furnishing of the Jonathan Club, wrong impression was given through an announcement in last Sunday's paper. It was intended to say that Barker Bros. had supplied the furniture, carpets, rugs and draperies, and that selections were made and the execution of the color schemes was carried out under the direction of Miss Millie Bonifilio-Adv.

PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICIALS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

A motion will be introduced in the Council Monday to compel automobile drivers to secure licenses from a board of examining engineers.

Fred Julius, a Beau Brummel of the fire department, was yesterday on trial before the Fire Commission for "flirting and whistling at the ladies while on duty."

In modifying the divorce decree in the Vosburg suit three judges sitting in banc finally settled the differences that have kept this case open since the decree was granted nearly five years ago.

John W. Ackerman was lucky enough to escape with the minimum sentence for passing a bogus check in Judge Smith's court yesterday.

M. E. Murphy was arraigned before Commissioner Van Dyke on the charge of having in his possession counterfeit gold pieces which he says he found in a toilet at Asot Park.

AT THE CITY HALL.

BIG "EXAM" FOR AUTO DRIVERS.

MUST STAND TEST AS EXPERT ENGINEERS.

Motion Will be Introduced in Council Requiring All Chug Wagon Drivers to Secure Licenses from Board of Examining Engineers—Fire Commission May Issue Permits.

It is a grim April fool joke that members of the Council and the Fire Commission yesterday concocted for the luckless chug wagon drivers.

The commissioners have suddenly discovered that most of the automobiles are propelled either by steam, gasoline or electric engines. The fire board's part of the programme is to demand that all chauffeurs must obtain permits to operate engines before they are allowed to "take life easy," loafing about the streets at the rate of anywhere from thirty miles an hour up to the century mark.

Blanchard has undertaken personal supervision of the Councilmanic end of the proceedings. It will be the first campaign this year that he has directed from the floor of the Council.

"I expect to make a nation business," said Mr. Blanchard yesterday, "that the City Auditor be instructed to draw up an ordinance requiring the drivers of automobiles to pass examinations before a board of engineers."

The Council had contemplated the passage of an ordinance fixing the speed of automobiles within the city limits. But the members have discovered that there are no such examinations as yet.

The State Legislature recently adopted a statute fixing the speed of automobiles in incorporated cities at fifteen miles an hour. The same statute provides that the driver of an automobile, if he is caught exceeding the speed limit, must either be given immediate trial or released on his own recognizance of Mr. Mayor.

There is a question whether the city can enforce more stringent regulations than those provided in the State statute. When the city sought to enforce an anti-boxing ordinance the courts held that the State had already legislated on boxing. It was in the province of this city to pass more stringent regulations. This same point of law might be raised by the plaintiffs as a defense against punishment for exceeding a lower speed limit than fifteen miles an hour.

But the Councilmen and the Fire Commissioners are of the opinion that they hold the trump card in the power to require all automobiles to pass examinations as expert engineers and to secure licenses for the operation of engines on automobiles.

The automobilists are lying low, evidently waiting for the gust of popular disapproval to pass by. Los Angeles has a world wide reputation as an ideal city for the benzine buggy, and they are of the opinion that a reversal of sentiment will soon follow the present outburst, that will enable them to secure the repeal of any unfriendly legislation adopted by the present street of popular indignation.

BEAU BRUMMEL ON TRIAL.

TROUBLES OF FIREMEN.

Fred Julius, a member of engine company No. 7 was on trial yesterday morning before the Fire Commission on charges of being too popular with the ladies.

Capt. Jenkins of engine company No. 7 had preferred written charges accusing Julius of flirting with and whistling at the ladies while on duty. Chief Laps told the commissioners that the groceryman near the engine house had complained to him that Julius was flirting in the neighborhood to the extent that it was hurting the grocery business.

Julius appeared before the commission clad in an immaculate uniform that had the appearance of being tailor made. He was accompanied by a couple of gabbling girls who were ready to testify in behalf of the fire lad, if he needed any help.

But Julius didn't need their aid. He dismissed the Captain's charges with a careless wave of the hand and the confidence that I am always whistling and singing while on duty. He has a naturally sunny disposition. If the ladies are attracted by it why—? he supplied the most words with an air of superior suggestion.

"Oh, that groceryman has no kick coming," he went on "his store is across the street from the engine house. His troubles are that I keep on the corner where the engine house is. He thinks that keeps trade away from his side of the street. If it does it is no fault of mine."

Continuing Julius told of his troubles in other engine houses and with other captains. It seemed that the ladies naturally hang around the houses where he is employed. He said that Chief Stromm once had him on the carpet on the charge of following a woman home.

"I told the chief," said Julius, "that if the woman would make a complaint against me I would throw up my job. That was the last I heard of those charges."

Growing more confident Julius related other unpleasantness which he has been forced to undergo while in the department. The records show that he has been transferred to five different houses. "One of those transfers was occasioned by a little trouble over a gun," he explained. "One day the boys in the house had the gun and I was looking at it in company with several other fellows. The gun disappeared. They went to hunt for it and found it stuffed down in a box in my locker. Some of the boys made unkind remarks and I asked for a transfer."

Captain Jenkins had subpoenaed no witnesses to substantiate his charges against Julius. The commissioners voted to dismiss the case but without prejudice to a renewal of the charges, to be substantiated by witnesses.

Fire Board Miscellaneous.

Property owners living on Jefferson street yesterday morning filed a preliminary protest with the fire board.

AGAINST THE GRANTING OF A PERMIT FOR A CHINESE LAUNDRY IN A NEW BUILDING AT THE CORNER OF JEFFERSON AND ROYAL STREETS.

The protest recites that the building is under the process of construction there, which is to be used as a Chinese laundry. The property owners do not want Chinese for neighbors.

Chief Laps reported that the nuisance complained of in connection with the machine shop at Fifteenth and Wall streets has been abated. Residents complained against the racket made by the gasoline engine in the machine shop. The chief explained that the engine is equipped with a muffled exhaust pipe but that during the recent rains the pipe became clogged with debris. Chief Laps explained that he is working on the engine and the commission filed the protest.

The following new applications for permits were referred to Chief Laps for investigation: Progress Engine Company, gasoline engine permit for machine shop at 851 North Main street; J. C. Robinson, gasoline engine, 427 Moulton avenue; T. Madusa, hand laundry permit, 418 West Tenth street; W. B. Rose, fuel and oil, 418 West Tenth street; R. J. Tucker, 141 East Seventh street, blacksmith shop permit; Joseph H. Hagan, gasoline engine, 1238 South Los Angeles street.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

VOSBURG CASE IS SETTLED.

DIVORCE DECREE IS MODIFIED FOR CHILDREN'S SAKE.

Judges York, Wilbur and Conroy in Banc Concur in Wiping Away Former Restrictions, and Parents Will Exercise Their Discretion as to Visiting Children.

After sitting in banc for four Saturdays to hear the petition for modification of the decree in the divorce suit of Kate Vosburg against John S. Vosburg a decision was yesterday made by Judges York, Conroy and Wilbur, by which both parties are satisfied.

The suit was decided in August, 1900, and though of an uneasy nature in certain respects was punctuated with surprises, as for instance when the two younger boys were taken to New York by the father and the mother had to go there and institute legal proceedings to recover possession. Judge York granted a decree to Mrs. Vosburg, who is a daughter of J. S. Slansky, but awarded the older boy, Roydon, to the father while granting to the mother the custody of the two younger boys, Keith and Murray. A provision was made in the decree that the mother might enjoy the society of her eldest son for three hours each Saturday, and during a similar period of time the father might enjoy the society of the two younger boys. It was further provided that during this term of six hours all three children were to be together in the charge of a governess, and Mr. Vosburg was ordered to pay $100 a month toward the maintenance of the boys given in the charge of Mrs. Vosburg.

The order as modified yesterday gives exclusive custody of the two younger boys to the mother and excludes the custody of the older boy to the father. The matter of visiting is thus left entirely in the discretion of both parents, and unless they agree on some mode of conduct that will permit the children to grow up to manhood respecting and loving both parents, all visiting and friendly intercourse may cease.

The provision in the original decree that Mr. Vosburg pay $100 a month as alimony has also been set aside, so that the father will be at no expense for the younger boys. Inasmuch as both parties to the suit are given the matter of money is of secondary importance.

It is understood that the above order of court meets the wishes of both Mr. and Mrs. Vosburg, and that by their agreement both parents will be able to see their children and enjoy their society so far as circumstances will permit.

MONTHLY REPORTS.

MONEY IN TREASURY.

County Clerk Keyes filed his report for the month of March yesterday, and it showed as follows: Receipts—Probate, $632.10; Civil, $2480.35; Miscellaneous, $235.55; Total, $3348.00. Disbursements—Credit of Library Fund, $438; To Salary Fund, $2561.90; Total, $2999.90.

The usual count of the money in the county treasury was made by the several officers appointed by law, and the following kind and amounts of money were found on hand:

Gold, $774,825.00; Currency, $99,356.00; Silver, $372,567.50; total, $1,146,748.50.

The report of County Recorder Hartwell showed that during the month of March there was received in fees $1215.15.

THE MINIMUM TERM.

ON JURY'S RECOMMENDATION.

John W. Ackerman is the good-looking youth who played a bogus check on Mr. Gold, the proprietor of a rooming-house, and received $250 change. He passed another fictitious check, but was never brought to trial for that offense.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but recommended the youth to the mercy of the court, for the reason, as Judge Smith surmised yesterday, that the amount involved was insignificant. The court read Ackerman a lecture regarding the probabilities if he continues to follow the crooked path he has chosen, and then sentenced him to Potosi for one year.

Ackerman came to this city last June and got employment with the Sun drug store but moved about from one employment to another through some difficulty that almost inevitably arose. Finally he exhausted his resources, and then it was that he passed the bogus checks.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

THE "FIG" CLOSED. Charles Harding was arraigned before Justice Young yesterday, charged with running a "blind pig" at Downey. He was held in $500 bail to appear for trial.

MORE REAL ESTATE.

The Corner Realty Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $75,000, fully subscribed. The directors are: W. S. Green, R. B. Green, H. T. Blow and V. L. Ward, all of Pasadena.

PEDRO WAS TEMPTED.

Pedro Latta is a youth who, while playing billiards with two chums on San Gabriel, suffered a great temptation. The trio had finished the game and strolled outside. His two friends had gone home and Latta could not tear himself away from the spot where he had been bottles of whisky and boxes of cigars piled up ornamentally behind the counter. He thought he would take one last look and then go home. He turned the handle of the saloon door and found it yielded. It had been left

FRAUD ORDER HITS "GOLD BOND" CONCERN.

A FRAUD order against the "International Gold Bond Company," which this city has just reached Postmaster Flint, and thus another skin-sucker-organization is doomed to a deservedly early death. This aggregation of financial talent is composed, in all appearances, of Louis M. Helmer, treasurer, and J. B. Monette, manager. Helmer and Monette have other titles, but these are their principal appendages. They have been fastidiously of the Helman building, and it is rumored that their country business, especially in the direction of India, reached considerable proportions.

Two of their highly-decorated papers reached Postmaster Wilson, and that official discerned an evil purport open by mischance. Inside all was dark, but Pedro contrived to feel his way and took several bottles of whisky and pockets full of cigars. Then he crept away into the night and buried his treasure. Yesterday he acknowledged his offense and Judge Smith sent him to Potosi for one year.

UNDERWRITING STOCK. The National Securities Company, which has incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000, of which $100,000 has been subscribed. The directors are: W. H. Allen, Jr., W. C. Patterson, W. M. J. R. Haynes, J. C. Kays, W. D. Stephens, A. B. Case, all of Los Angeles; H. D. Dwyer, Santa Monica; and C. E. Sumner, Toledo, O.

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

WHO IS THE REAL CULPRIT?

YOUNG MURPHY IS PROBABLY NO COUNTERFEITER.

Bad Money at Asot Park. Beta Secret Service Agents Investigating. Murphy Arraigned Before Commissioner Van Dyke and Admitted to Bail, With Date for Early Hearing.

The apparent honesty of Merwyn Murphy of Redondo will probably save him from wearing a felon's stripes. Murphy is the young fellow who says he found twenty-two bogus $10 pieces in a toilet at Asot Park, and his action in delivering the same to Manager Brooks seems to indicate that he is not the passer of the "queer."

John P. Cronin, United States secret-service agent, made out a formal complaint yesterday, and Murphy was arraigned before United States Commissioner Van Dyke. His examination was fixed for an early date, and bail was fixed at $2000—which was immediately given by the father, who is a saloon-keeper at Redondo.

Federal officials said yesterday afternoon that casual investigation may disclose a nest of counterfeiters, whose headquarters are somewhere near this city.

Murphy, who does not appear to be a criminal, says he knows nothing of the origin of the spurious money. A cry was given by bookkeepers at the restaurant and sent along to the detectives, that some one was "working them with bad money." The supposition is that if Murphy's story is true, the culprit has retired to a closet and purged his pockets of their incriminating burden of false metal.

APRIL FOOL DAY WAS NO JOKE.

MANY CRIMES USHERED IT IN YESTERDAY.

Safe-cracking, Hold-ups, Burglaries Were Reported to the Police. Woman Escaped Hold-up Men by Chance Passers-by—Mystery of Boy in Elevator Solved.

April Fool's Day dawned upon Los Angeles with a riot of crimes. Albert Stalle of No. 442 South Main street reported to the police that the man who has been breaking into his trunk from time to time, came back for the last installment. He said that he has been losing in installments money in amounts of $5 and $10 bills out of $50 he had in his trunk. Early yesterday morning his burglarious friend cleaned out the balance of the stock.

HELD UP.

Jean Latour reported that he was held up at College and San Fernando streets by three young men with revolvers, which they poked in his face. They took $4 and even his old black felt hat, but gave no description of the men.

Miss Brent, living at Santee and Twenty-third streets, reported that she was held up about 9 o'clock Friday night as she was walking along past Main and Seventh streets, when two men jumped out and began to rob her. She was holding a woman and four children came along the street; they let her go and ran.

Hom Goy was another victim. He said that he was walking along Alameda street early yesterday morning, when a bad man with a gun stopped him and took $3.32. The illustrious Hom Goy was crushed in spirit by the occurrence.

ROBBERS.

Hummel Bros. & Co. of No. 116 East Second street reported a safe cracking. When they went to open their office safe yesterday morning, the door almost fell off, the hinges, they found, had been almost sawed through. The safe and premises had been ransacked and things scattered all over the floor. The thieves took $2500.

C. W. Endel of No. 502 North Alameda street reported that his place had been entered by thieves, who got in through a window opening into an adjoining room. The thieves got $25 out of a money drawer.

WHY IN SHAFT?

Yesterday morning, about 6 o'clock, a boy who gave the name of T. Webb, was found groaning, sixty revolutions to the minute, at the bottom of the elevator shaft in a shoe store near Broadway and Fifth streets. His elbow was skinned and he was convinced that he had about departed this life; was, in fact, just kicking his last. He could not give a satisfactory reason for his being in somebody's elevator shaft at that time in the morning. He was looked on as suspicious, pending investigation.

DRESS MAKING DEPARTMENT.

THE FINEST CAFE IN LOS ANGELES.

SOON TO BE OPENED AT SIXTH AND MAIN.

Pacific Electric Grill and Buffet. Located on Grand Floor of Huntington Building. Will Have One of the Most Complete Equipments in the City.

On the eighth of this month the big restaurant in the new Huntington Building at the corner of Sixth and Main streets will be opened for business.

It will be one of the most attractive dining rooms in the city, and will have some novel features that are not duplicated on the Pacific coast.

The restaurant will be known as the Pacific Electric Grill and Buffet. Schlieblitz and Gumpert will be the owners and proprietors, but the active management will be in the hands of Gus Cline, who has had several years of experience in the hotel and restaurant business both in Los Angeles and in Portland, Oregon.

The entire northeast corner of the lower floor of the building will be occupied by the cafe.

There will be three distinct departments, each of them a complete in its way as money and experience can make them.

In the very corner of the building will be the main dining hall, and the lunch counter. In this room are eight of the immense windows which characterize the location of the Pacific Electric Grill and Buffet.

A large amount of money is being spent by the proprietors in the current remodeling of the building. Nearly a thousand dollars has been spent by them in this one detail alone. The room is one hundred feet square, and it is planned to place therein fifty tables. Along a portion of the north side will be located a counter, where those desiring a quick lunch may be served.

The tables and chairs in this room are of special design and construction, and expensive. Money is not being spared by the owners in their endeavor to provide a first-class restaurant.

This is the main room of the establishment, and looks directly out, upon the west side, over the immense waiting room of the railway station. Entrance to this portion of the cafe may be had only through the waiting room.

Separate from the main cafe is the Balcon Garden—a feature which will be heartily welcomed by the thrifty travelers on their return from a journey. This garden is the first sight which will greet their eyes as they step out of the cars, for it has been located just at the place where the passengers get off the cars.

The garden is handsomely frescoed. Scenes typical of a southern land are faithfully portrayed on the walls—possibly because the managers know that such scenes suggest refreshment.

This palm garden is one of the pet ideas of the owners, and they are confident that it will be a favorite place with the patrons of the electric road. It will be entirely enclosed on the side of the tracks by huge plates of glass, but nevertheless will be so arranged that the ventilation of the room will be perfect.

West of the garden is located the bar. The room is small, but very well furnished, though there will be no tables or chairs in it. The bar is entirely separated from the general cafe, and direct entrance from one to the other is impossible, though there is an opening through which waiters may receive "wet goods" for people in the cafe.

The kitchen is conveniently located on the east side of the building, between the garden and the main cafe. All appliances there are of the most modern type, and special study has been given to the fixtures, in order that the waiters may give the most expeditious service possible.

The cold storage arrangements have all been put in specially to order, and are very elaborate. Automatic devices register the temperatures required by the owners and proprietors, and the wine room, the beer room, and so on. Each must be at a certain temperature, and special contrivances have been arranged so that each room shall be kept evenly cool.

Throughout the entire establishment cleanliness and the most modern sanitary methods will be employed. It is the desire of the proprietors that their cafe shall become one of the show places of the city, and one that shall be talked about in other cities than this.

The napery, silverware, and glassware have all been selected with the utmost care, and are the most fastidious of epicure.

The location of the new cafe is especially favorable, and must attract a large patronage other than that afforded by the electric railway passengers. Hundreds of men, and the large number of business men located far south on Main and Spring streets. Hereafter these have been compelled to go several blocks downtown for a good luncheon.

Messrs. Schlieblitz and Gumpert, the proprietors of the new cafe, are well known to the business world of Los Angeles.

Albert H. Schlieblitz has for seven years been manager of the Los Angeles Brewing Company, and is still a director of that concern. Though he is comparatively young man, he has a business acquaintance here which is usually attained only by men in the later years of their business life.

Mr. Paul Gumpert, the other member of the firm, came to Los Angeles from South Africa, where he has been and is in the restaurant business, and thoroughly knows all the fine points of it. He was the proprietor of the famous Cafe Rich in Pretoria, a restaurant which is one of the most notable institutions of its kind in the world. The business standing of Mr. Gumpert has always been high, and it is a noteworthy fact that since his arrival here he has succeeded in allying himself with the best business men of the city.

TURN OF WORM RENEWS ALARM

Orange Pest Getting More Lively in Mexico.

Bug Chaser from This State Goes to Fight It.

Expert Voices Need of National Quarantine.

Local orange growers are stirred by the latest turn of the Morales orange worm. The Mexican government has appealed for help in stamping out the pest. An agent of the California horticultural department has gone to that country to lend his assistance. There is renewed interest in a proposed national quarantine against this and other pests.

The growers of Riverside county are roused by the new alarm, probably more than those of Los Angeles county, because of the great importance of the industry in their section and of the havoc that would be wrought should the worm get across the border.

Horticultural agents of the State are at their posts like sentinels. Not an orange-tree twig nor a golden sphere is permitted to enter California from Mexico, either by land or water. Fruit and nursery stock from that country is destroyed promptly if it gets across the international boundary.

Robert F. Cundiff, president of the Riverside Board of Horticultural Commissioners, is one of the most ardent foes of the pest. Upon him rests the responsibility of guarding 20,000 acres of the richest orange lands in the world, of which he has been the family doctor, as it were, for more than ten years.

The Morales worm, or fly, declares Mr. Cundiff, is the greatest danger that now faces the industry. He thinks the time has come for the Federal government to take a hand, not only in war against the orange worm, but in raising the barriers against fruit and nursery stock from every country where pests are known to exist.

MAY CROSS BORDER.
"Darling vigilance is our only protection against the Morales worm," said Mr. Cundiff yesterday. "If it is not stamped out soon in Mexico, it may get into this country despite our watchfulness. The State's quarantine officers are doing good work, but all their efforts may come to naught through someone's blunder."

"An unthinking tourist might bring into the State just one orange infested with the pest. The fruit might be tossed aside, possibly from the window of a car into an orchard. The slip of the pest would get a start, like a spark in a forest from the campfire of a careless hunter, and we should have a fight for our lives."

"The Morales worm, an entomologist has told before, is hatched from the egg of a fly that is about the size of the ordinary house-fly. This insect sings from a dozen to twenty eggs into an orange, much as the codling moth deposits its eggs in an apple or pear."

"The larva as it develops bores its way into the fruit and there, without any indication on the outside, on its work of destruction until the orange is caused to drop from the tree. From that stage the larva becomes a fly and the process of multiplication proceeds at a rapid rate. It is almost impossible to combat the winged insect, making the pest, once introduced, extremely difficult to fight."

PESTS FROM ABROAD.
"Of more than six hundred fruit and tree pests known to exist in the United States, it is estimated that 32 per cent. originally were imported. For this reason it would seem that the national government should enact and enforce legislation to prevent the introduction of more such foes. California now carries much of this burden."

"The codling medfly, for instance, from no one knows just where, except that it was imported, and was most destructive to apples and pears until lately a parasite had been found that may cause its extermination. The gray moth, taken into Massachusetts from France with silk worms, has cost the New England State heavily in the last fifteen years. The San Jose scale, taken into San Jose county, this State, forty years ago from Australia, and the cottony-cushion scale, also from Australia, have been expensive immigrants and could have been turned back with proper inspection laws."

LOCAL QUARANTINES.
"California now has a strict quarantine on nursery stock from Florida and Louisiana, particularly as a guard against the 'white fly' that preys on fruit. In those States, and there are numerous local quarantines, Riverside county, for instance, enforcing one against certain portions of Los Angeles county where purple scale exists; also against Orange and San Diego counties."

"No new pests have obtained a foothold in Riverside county in a number of years, and several have been stamped out. The yellow, brown, San Jose and cottony-cushion scale are under subjection in this county through the introduction of beneficial parasites. "The black and the red scale are the only ones that now trouble us greatly. Colonies of scutellaria brought from South Africa two years ago bid fair to kill the black scale, while experiments are under way with the Chilocorus ruficollis, a lady-bird, just brought from Spain by George Comper, which may destroy the red pest."

"With national recognition of the necessity for increased care, together with the intelligent work that now is being done, it should not be long before every pest were stamped out and all others barred."

START SOON AT AQUEDUCT.

Metropolitan Racing Season is Now at Hand.

High-class Crop of Two-Year-Olds in Sight.

Jockey Prospects Brighter. Fuller Training.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) In another week the show will go up in the air at Aqueduct. All the week the tracks at Gravesend, Sheepshead Bay, Brighton and Jamaica have been alive with horses, trainers and jockeys preparing for the opening day of the real metropolitan season. The weather has been simply perfect, tracks like velvet and for the first time since winter's close, the trainers have been able to get their horses in better shape than in any previous year. The jockeys are in better shape than in any previous year. The trainers have been able to get their horses in better shape than in any previous year. The jockeys are in better shape than in any previous year.

The California Jockey Tradition is moving along steadily, but it is not likely to start before the big handicap in May. Great reports continue to arrive from Kentucky of a rider's fine work and condition. During the week some one placed a heavy bet in the future books on the famous son of Star Ruby, forcing the odds down a number of points.

In jockeyship little Baird now holds the center of the stage at Benning. He rode four winners one day this week, followed it up with two next and seems to have second and third places mortgaged. As the season progresses the jockey's outlook becomes brighter and brighter. Grover Cleveland Fuller seems to have profited much by his season as Acolt. Thus far he has done the best of his work at Benning, and eastern turfmen, who remember his brilliant work two years ago are much pleased. Fuller is keeping sober, saying nothing and saving words. That kind of conduct wins here where nothing else will. If Fuller, who is still only a boy, keeps up his good work he will surely remain his great popularity of 1932.

Harry Payne Whitney positively declares that Hildebrand is under contract to the Whitney stable.

Great things are expected this season of Bryn Mawr, the four-year-old son of Atheling, who went wrong early last season just when he was expected to give a battle royal for the ownership of the Goughnere stables. declares Bryn Mawr is a better horse than Dublin, game and fast, and that he is perfectly sound at present. R. Angerola, who arrived at Benning from Los Angeles during the week, says that Hildebrand is under contract to the Whitney stable.

"SPIT BALLS" LOSE A GAME.

Looelos Lay up Against the Curves of Garvin.

Hits Scarce but at the Proper Time to Make Runs.

Bernard Bats in Able Form. The Tallying.

Los Angeles 4; Portland 2.

McClellan's big stick swingers yesterday met their Waterloo and proved to the skeptics that they can be beaten just like other teams. Some of the fans had developed doubts.

Two spit balls—the same tricks that lost New York the American League pennant last fall—a tremendous drive from Bernard's bat to Garvin's pitching hand, and only two back shots by Smith and Cravath broke up yesterday's game on the Portland White Sox.

Pitching in almost perfect form with an assortment of curves fast and slow, Garvin pitched a gem of a game. The visiting list, big Virgil Garvin stood after the first stanza had netted the Looelos a brace of runs and moved down his opponents in consecutive order for the entire quartet of innings.

In the sixth, Bernard, the crafty Looelos centerfielder kidded the tall Texas into throwing him what he wanted and batted back the ball like a cannon shot through the box. Forcibly he hit Garvin's unloved hand into the air. It dropped back numb and the globe of leather sped on forever. After that Jolt the game came easier and blingies in the pinches raised enthusiastic roars from stand and bleachers.

"Dolly" Gray turned the trick for the locals in handsome style though he had to wait for a long time to get the ball. He pitched a gem of a game. CONSPIRING TO DEFRAUD.

Trisco Fight Promoters at Old Tricks Again.

Some Men Who Will Not Take Lessons.

Johnson-Hart Mill a Jolt. Merits of Case.

"Experience is a hard teacher, but fools will learn of none other," says the old proverb.

What then must be the mental complexion of men who will not even profit by their hard knocks?

To that unregarded observer, the "man up a tree," matters look much as if the "Trisco" fight promoters headed by the ubiquitous Coltrich had framed up another conspiracy to defraud the public by springing upon the long-suffering sports men another "dead cat" for Jeffries to maul in his time—Marvin Hart starring in the title role.

Any honest lover of the manly game would think that one such dose as the Johnson-Hart would be enough for those who graft their gains out of pugilism in the north, without again challenging the Fates by attempting to foist more chicanery upon the loyal pockets that have so splendidly supported the sport.

Los Angeles sports men, on rather the small percentage of those who still have faith in San Francisco fights, went down on the big negro hook, line and sinker, and not one of them has yet seen where he lost had the mill been honest.

That Johnson had a lead throughout on points was conceded by the referee. Hart's gameness was his sole asset. Greatly as he was pitied as a victim of the decision because it forced the fighting.

Johnson, according to all the reports, pounded Hart to a pulp, and carried out a carefully-studied programme to outpoint him. Some of the Johnsons may have been in on the play—a charge that, sad to say, can never be dismissed against a negro pugilist without careful consideration of the circumstantial evidence. Whether or no the fact remains that he decisively outpointed the white man in a contest billed as a "boxing contest." White or black, he then should have received the decision.

The San Francisco Bulletin, whose conservatism in criticizing San Francisco fighting has been frequently remarked, takes strong ground against McGraw's decision and declares the worst Johnson should have received was a draw. Hart forced the fighting in the limit and did not land effectively.

The object of giving Hart the decision is plain. In insisting upon a "fair" charge and a "fair" what is to be made by being crooked on the assumption that any man would rather be honest than a thief if it better suited his purpose.

Jeffries will not fight a negro, consequently the promoters had all to lose and nothing to gain by Johnson winning.

Further, the negro was a red-hot favorite, at times even stronger than 2 to 1. The wagering was, however, comparatively light.

These two objects and the palpable fact that the decision was not in accordance with the showing of the men, as well as rendered by a partisan whose charges and claims were out of the "Trisco" fight promoters had the conclusion that another job has been put through with the ultimate intention of lining up a "stiff" of little more value than Munroe for another "championship" fight.

Locally the situation is quiet. Tom McCarey has been arranging for a convenient location upon which to erect a pavilion of sufficient size to accommodate several thousand spectators, and when his troubles in that line are settled, expects to resume sporting operations here again upon the old scale.

McCarey always realized that "honorary" is the best policy in pugilism, and he has never been more so than in the case of the Johnson-Hart fight. He had the clearest fighting ever seen in the history of the game. If other promoters had looked at matters in the same way, California would not be the principal refuge of the gloven men today.

Jeffries's announcement that at the end of the year he intends to retire unless a suitable opponent can be unearched for him is practically a challenge to the "Trisco" promoters.

Jim might as well say "come on with your stuff" and be done with it.

The big fellow now in the business, if ever there was Jack Johnson comes near to being a "stiff" of little more value than Munroe for another "championship" fight.

BIG JOHN HAS TROUBLES, TOO.

Giant McLean Destined to be Great Player.

Bound to Win Fame Through His Baserunning.

His Chief Horror is Upper Pullman Berths.

Walter McCredie may or may not win the pennant with his Portland ball club this summer, but he has already broken one record.

The manager of the White Sox, deserves credit for taking a human elephant and breaking him to single or double harness as he did when he tamed the giant, John McLean—the biggest man now playing the national game.

McLean has been hiding his light under a bushel playing catcher. By rights he ought to be on first base where his enormous bulk and bridge-like reach stand him in best position to catch the ball.

Behind the bat these qualities do not shine to such advantage as they will on first. Playing the initial sack McLean can easily stretch out to short or third base and have the fielder hand him the ball instead of throwing it.

This will save the Portland manager many dollars for sore-arm medicine as well as make it practically impossible to beat out infield hits.

The pitcher, Bill Lee, throwing the ball to him is like pitching through a barn door, or to a church. He looms up on the north side of the base like a mild tower, but has a habit of swinging his bat hard and smartly at the right time to race the end of some outfielder's looking.

It is as a base runner that John McLean seems by nature endowed to achieve universal fame. All he has to do is to fall down on the lines after taking a good lead-off, stretch out like a small and touch the next bag. It is hard to see how follow like that can be thrown out. He ought to steal every base he wants just by putting his hand on it when the pitcher isn't looking.

McLean may without any mental apologies to conscience, be called a "great" ball player. He certainly is.

There isn't a "greater" in the business.

Happily the giant is as good natured as he is big. If he was not—but that would be calamitous.

He has one ever-present worry, and that is upper berths. Ball players occasionally get acquainted with Pullmans. Coming down from Bakerfield about 7 o'clock in the morning in the Portland sleeper the following dialogue was heard—it was at the summit of the Tehachepi.

"Porter, for heaven's sake can't you throw some of these stiffs out and give me a 'lower' so I can open the window and stick my feet out?"

Porter: Is dat Massa McLean, sah? Yesnah, sah! I'll make up a berth in the baggage cab, sah, at once, sah.

Whereupon McLean's troubles were temporarily postponed.

It isn't all a joke being a big fellow. McLean's pocket money is constantly raided to repair chandeliers with which his cranium has come into violent contact. If he wants to stretch in an easy bed, a divorce between the head and sideboards is not less swift than certain.

Big John can't ride in an ordinary back without sticking his head out one side and his feet out of the other—a position which is neither dignified nor comfortable.

Personally he is a good fellow without bad habits and well liked by his fellows on the team. He is a first-class ball player and with a little more experience ought to hold down a fast job in fast company. When he learns to reach out and tag base runners instead of throwing his ball, he will become a most valuable performer indeed.

VICTORY AGAIN HIGH SCHOOL'S.

DEFEATS ALHAMBRA ON THE BASKETBALL COURT

Los Angeles and Long Beach News-Led in County League, and Championship Will be Determined Saturday—Team from Interior City Does Not Lose Gracefully.

The Los Angeles High School basketball team has scored again in the County League. Yesterday it beat the Alhambra High School 27 to 11, and another basket was made just as the whistle blew at the finish, but that did not count. This means that the local team stands with only one peer for the championship, and that is the Long Beach High School. These teams are running neck and neck, with an average of 100 for each side, and next Saturday morning at 10:30 will come the tug of war between the two on the court of the University of Southern California.

The game with Alhambra was played on the Los Angeles High School court. It was not scientific nor particularly sportsmanlike. Many fouls were called on both sides, and there was likewise a great deal of talking back and coaching toward the umpire, and the Alhambra umpire, Miss Daphne Cohen, seemed rather uncertain in her rulings.

Following was the line-up: Alhambra—Irma Cohen (c.), and Lou Crinklaw, forwards; Louie Ruhland, center; Bertha Hale and Inger Westren, guards; L.A.H.S.—Mary Plummer and Annette Burke, forwards; Mildred Hunter, center; Edna Augur (c.) and Bernice Gray, guards.

Miss Edna Augur, a fine little player, surprised her friends by making a number of fouls in the first half. Alhambra had ten foul throws, but was able to make only one out of that number. The forwards were so well guarded by the High School girls that they were hindered in that manner, and they could not make such a clean street to the basket as they had in the first half. The local forward, Mary Plummer, the local forward, had the advantage in size, and in efficiency, and the Alhambra guard was practically helpless when Miss Plummer reached for the ball. One of the visiting guards was a good player, and the center was fully equal to, if not superior to Miss Mildred Hunter of L.A.H.S.

Between 5 and 6 was the score at the end of the first half. The visitors did not take defeat in a graceful manner, and after the game was completed, it was fought over in a wordy war in which Alhambra had much to say. The team was defeated and did not like it.

Heading up their line-up not allowed by the principal of the school, the visiting team laid itself open to being defeated by the Los Angeles girls, who were willing to take such an advantage. The L.A.H.S. lost game after game in that manner last year.

TELL'S OLD APPLE SHOOTING OUTDONE.

ENGLAND has produced a wonderful trick shot if the tales of Col. Borden's prowess with the rifle as related by a London exchange can be credited at face value. The time-honored-William Tell trick of tearing an apple off the head of a boy with an arrow is gone several better by some of the stunts practiced by the first crack usually drops the lady's bonnet. The second unbooks one shoulder of her dress, and at the last shot the girl falls from her seat.

Another of Borden's specialties is the shooting free of a jump of sugar placed between the foreheads of two men. This trick is risky; if the shooter's eye be true and his hand steady, regularly by this keen-eyed veteran marksman whose specialty is shooting a woman's dress off her back, and playing the piano with a revolver for variety.

Borden has been handling arms of precision for many years and shooting has become as much a matter of habit with him as eating. He shoots mechanically, without any attention to the act itself, as must any crack marksman.

Col. Borden turns his skill to account in the vaudeville business, and the dress trick is one of his best. It is accomplished by shooting off in succession a number of small steel bullets which serve as targets and form fastenings for the dress. His lady assistant has every confidence in the colonel's shooting ability and says she feels not the slightest anxiety in being shot at by him.

Most of his feats are performed across an ordinary theater stage—less than ten yards. He uses a small gallery rifle and 22-caliber ammunition in most of his work. The commoner tricks of shooting out candles, snuffing cigars and cigarettes, the colonel has literally at his finger tips. He will probably appear in America before very long.

The piano playing stunt is accomplished by shooting specially made keys in the piano with a small revolver. "Cavallieri Rusticani" is said to be in Borden's repertoire. He plays other selections in the same manner and never fails to score a hit on the instrument and with the public.

Like most good shots, Borden shoots quick. There is no long hesitation; no dwelling on the aim. His shots are as most men shoot a shotgun.

comes from Jersey City. Muhler is 25 years of age and left the United States about three months ago to visit a brother in Berlin who is in the German Emperor's service as chauffeur.

Learning that Muhler was at liberty Mr. Balfour communicated with him recently, and his engagement followed.

Among motor men here, Muhler is regarded as even more expert a driver than Oliver Stanton, who pilots the King's car. The Prime Minister is quite as much an enthusiast in motoring as he is in golfing, so Muhler will have plenty of business. It is said that it was on the recommendation of the King that the Prime Minister sought an American driver. He had tried men of various nationalities but found them all wanting, or at least not up to the standard of his requirements.

From now on, practice shoots will be the rule every Sunday. The big tournament is not far away and the local cracks desire to get their arms and eyes into the best of form before it opens.

An effort will be made to shoot off the entire tournament over the Laguna, but the Export will be held in reserve if the entry is so heavy as to justify their use. The Laguna machine seems more economical and does not require so many to handle it.

Several Santa Ana and Pomona shotgun sharks are planning to participate in the monthly practice shoot of the local gun club at its grounds near Sherman today.

The Justine Medal and the new Hunter Arms Co. Medal will be contested for. E. A. Tucker of Parker Bros., who is now in town, has promised to come out and help the boys turn 'em over.

POPE-TOLEDO LESSONS--No. 1.

A Discussion of the Relative Merits of "Double-Chain" and "Shaft-Drive" Cars.

Relative to the superiority of the "outside chain drive" on large touring cars, in the first place, you have probably noted the recent advertisements of certain manufacturers of "shaft drive cars" in which this system is so many times referred to as the "direct drive." Now, as a matter of fact, none of these cars are, strictly speaking, driven direct as the word "direct" is understood in the automobile world.

We might say in explanation that in the earlier forms of automobile transmission the power was first delivered to a primary shaft, from which the power reached the wheels. Later the European manufacturers introduced what they termed "direct drive," although they had not really approached a "direct drive" in the complete acceptance of the term. They did, however, manage to secure a "direct drive" to the secondary shaft so that on the high speed the only power that was misused was consumed in driving a train of idle gears. While this resistance was not much it was, still speaking, not a "direct drive" as used in the "POPE-TOLEDO."

Now, these so-called "direct drive" automobiles use the form last described in other words, some train of gears other than the two bevels are in mesh and running when on the high speed. In the "POPE-TOLEDO" not a single gear other than a pair of bevel gear drivers in its operation, when the car is running on high speed; consequently, this system is the only true "direct drive" car known either here or in Europe today.

In regard to the advantages of the outside "direct chain drive," we will concede to ONE and ABSOLUTELY ONLY ONE talking point in favor of the shaft drive, and that is the neatness and absence of the purring of the chains, which is almost nothing in considering the many superior points in favor of the "direct chain drive" system, one of which is Economy and Power. It needs no argument to convince any one of the loss of power in the bevel gear system due to the driving through universal couplings at an angle of from eight to twelve degrees, the power being tortuously transmitted to an overburdened broken rear axle system, which is already overloaded with its own weight before the passengers take their places in the car, and thereby add the proverbial "straw to the camel's back."

The friction of the "drive shaft" system, due to angular pitch, is sometimes avoided by coupling direct to the clutch and through universal couplings straight to the broken axle system, but, in this form, although it decreases the angle of the drive, necessitates superposition of the transmission itself upon the already overweighted axle, it forms a direct penalty for this escape from power waste.

When the designer attempts to eliminate this condition by suspending the weight of the transmission upon the chassis he is immediately confronted with the evil of a greater angular drive to the broken rear axle system. None of these evils is greater in the outside "chain drive" cars, as the sprockets, being concentric to one another, any vertical motion, within the range of the springs, in no wise changes the transmission of power.

Another important feature in favor of the double outside chain drive, is that it permits the use of a solid unbroken rear axle, which permits the carrying of greater strains and stress under all the varying conditions met with on American roads.

The bevel gear system is at a distinct disadvantage in comparison on those most important points. The immense casting required, together with the trussing to keep the broken system from sagging, even without the weight of the passengers in the car, is such as to constitute a further loss of power, due to the bending of the various parts when a full load is imposed. This being true, the result is easily seen should the car ever be overloaded.

"POPE-TOLEDO" stock cars, of exactly the same horse-power as cars of the shaft driven type, have invariably won out in all track events, thereby proving the lack of friction with the "double outside chain drive." Still another important feature of the double chain system is that it enables the owner at will to change the ratio of his gearing when going over flat or hilly country. This, of course, cannot be done on the bevel gear drive system at all, and when it comes to the question of accessibility for repairs, etc., all the advantages are again with the double chain "direct drive" type.

As evidence that makers of world-wide repute appreciate the advantage of the double chain drive, we give below a list of some manufacturers using this form of transmission:

We have pointed out a few of the many advantages in outside chain construction, and, from a manufacturing standpoint, this system has numerous other superior advantages. It being impossible to produce a lighter and faster car without in any way reducing the factor of safety, etc. For instance, should you install the "POPE-TOLEDO" engine in one of these large touring cars now upon the market, equipped with a shaft drive system, and of about the same weight of the "POPE-TOLEDO," and give the car the same work you ask of the "POPE-TOLEDO," what would be the result? The higher power engine would certainly rack and tear the car to pieces in a short while. The result would be due to the inelastic application of power and weakness of construction already pointed out, which could not be well overcome in this system of drive for the simple reason that if the system should be made stronger in order to withstand the greater shocks of the "POPE-TOLEDO" engine, the weight of the system would necessarily be so excessive as to prohibit the use, for the mere fact that the weight of the engine being suspended entirely upon the broken chain members, besides imposing an undue strain, also tends to more rapidly destroy the tires.

As this excessive weight is carried directly upon the tires, whereas, in the outside chain drive car, the springs act as buffers and the shock and strain upon the tires are therefore eliminated.

We trust you will study these points carefully when "shaft drive" cars are offered for large touring cars in your presence, and there is no question but that you will be convinced that the chain drive automobile is the only practical system to use on large touring cars.

have been let. The flooring and grouting is now hurriedly on. The "Home Telephone" is at our door. Nearly $100,000 worth of city gas has been sold in the last few days and altogether there seems to be "something afoot" at Manhattan Beach. It's a boom, too.

By the way, we have an especial hot offer for Manhattan Beach. Just the lot to build on.

ere to the policy of preserving public lands for agriculture and to prevent the acquisition of bodies of land in trust of individuals and corporations or foreign, sufficient to be placed at the disposal of the Department to prevent and widespread violations of the law have been brought to the attention of the Department and of Congress.

Secretary Lamar in 1898, in his report, stated:

What is needed, in my opinion, is a reformation of existing laws, an absolute homestead, including all other forms of agricultural lands, and a system of improvement, and a system of the homestead period should be the exclusive of acquiring title to such lands, and the further states, but the principle of homesteads is the same as the one, and its use are the same. Between the two, the homesteads are universally fraudulent, and the lands are to be kept for the homestead law and the principle of the homestead law is the same.

CONTROL ADJACENT TO THE

Looking over the reports of the Lands Commissioner I find instances that fully illustrate the large bodies of land in the States. One instance is in Colorado, where fifty-seven entries were made upon a tract of land, and in another of that State mention is made of thirty entries covering 4,000 acres of land along water courses. Entries were made to cover adjacent territory; one of land extending twenty miles along a river; another of 1,500 acres made by a cattle company, and along the Rio Grande to control the water right for the twenty miles.

San Miguel County, New Mexico, four entries of 100 acres each made in the interest of a company. These lands were all in a large district.

President, I need not state that land on an extensive scale, and cattle companies never take place under the act without the commission. Under our homestead act the settler to 160 acres of land at the end of fourteen months, and the required vast tracts of land along the Mississippi River at the time the minimum price was $10 an acre.

This commutation clause of the act has enabled many to gain possession of large tracts of pine-land in the West for the paltry sum of $10, and although the worst land existing on pine-land has been largely transferred to the West States, it is being sold at the present time with much profit.

The commutation clause of the homestead act is one of the worst in many of the laws for obtaining lands adjacent to ponds, and springs, the act of which enables the purchaser to control vast tracts of adjacent country.

The repeal of the commutation clause of the homestead act, twenty years ago in the act of honest settlement, but the demand for its repeal when the population of the country has passed the 10,000,000 mark, the area of our arable domain is decreasing at the rate of one acre every day.

square. The Home State proposed to enlarge to 50,000 acres in Colorado, and the State of Dakota, finally failed of its session of Congress.

ills would have enormous effect on the efforts of the States to absorb into its colonies in private ownership which will eventually be quarter-section farms to homestead entry in homes of the exceeding 100 acres. The bills were condemned in report from the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, from the Commissioner of the Public Lands Commission, of W. A. Richards, Chief of the Bureau of Land Office, and the Department of the Interior, Mr. Newell, chief engineer of the Irrigation Service. Their report was submitted to Congress by the Department, with a message of approval of the report.

the South Dakota bill was in the House, the Colorado bill was in the Senate. F. Lacey, made a statement of the passage of the bill, and the Colorado bill was in the House, and had to be passed.

et that bill so detrimental to the complete agricultural of the West can pass the Representatives, in the official condemnation of these bills, shown the strength of the interests which are trying to keep the private ownership in the present or reclamation.

the unfortunate case which exists in the House of the bill with reference to the fact that the eastern Congress had not for the benefit of the West. It will be before what remains of the bill of the whole people, and the bill is being passed away in the past.

GOING SOME FOR NAG SHOW.

PARADE WIDEAWAKE OVER THE HORSE SPECTACLE.

Los Angeles Much Interested in the Coming Event and Will Take Active Part in Exhibitions--There Will Be Parade and Stunning Gowns as Well.

A visitor to the crown of the valley discovers that the Pasadena mind is largely given over, these days, to the consideration of politics and horses. A city election set for April 3 is responsible for the political activity, and a few days hence show on April 5, 7, and 8 accounts for the unusual interest in the horse show.

Horse talk is rife in the smart sets of more than one neighboring town. Los Angeles among the number, and about one hundred and thirty entries for the twenty-five odd classes of the show are authoritatively announced. The wealthy owners of Pasadena are setting the pace, and those of other localities are keeping step. The whole "three days' affair" seems planned on a remarkably generous and high-toned scale, silver prize cups being in evidence on all sides, and the arrangements providing for daily programmes modeled upon the best types of horse shows given in New York and elsewhere. This may be partly accounted for on the theory that several experienced horsemen of Kentucky are interested in the management.

In any case, it is pleasant to note in the preparations for the show evidence that it is to be a gentlemen's affair, and that it is envisaged with hearty interest and cooperation of owners of what is best in horsemanship in Southern California. The professional habits of race tracks may not find any comfort in attending, but this will not cause lament. For those, however, who admire the horse, person, and not for the money that may be made upon his speed, there is promise that the Pasadena horse show will afford ample opportunity for enthusiasm. The number of entries is reported to be so large that additional prizes have been offered to cover some of them, and it is a poor day that does not bring forth a prize cup from some donor. In tandem and four-in-hand races, the management report unexpectedly numerous entries, which ought to bring into the arena all the best whips of the region round about.

Society is aware, too, over the anticipated gathering of swiftness, with its new gowns and other appurtenances, which, it is assumed, will furnish such an outdoor ensemble as has not been seen for many a day. The Pasadena show is very going some in the matter of this equine round-up.

CURIOS AND ODDITIES.

An Idea for Medical Students.

"Modern languages," said a college president, "are being chosen by a number of youths as a preparative to our course in medicine. I know five young Americans who will be able, by the time they get their degree, to speak French, German, Italian and Russian."

"The young men," said the listener, "learn these languages so that they can read all the world's medical journals and keep up with the latest scientific discoveries?"

"No," said the president. "No, not primarily. They learn these languages primarily so that they can practice in the world's most famous health resorts—so that they can practice in Mentone, Tignes, St. Raphael, Davos, Bormio, St. Moritz, and so on."

"In these towns, you see, come invalids from every country, and nearly all these invalids have plenty of money. Hence there is no better field for the practice of medicine than Davos, Mentone and all those other invalid resorts. Provided the physician can speak the various languages of the patients."

"I know a doctor of 30, a Pennsylvania who winters in San Remo, and who follows them to the Bernese Oberland, and summers in the high Alps. He is only thirty, yet his practice is worth $30,000 a year. Of course he is a magnificent linguist."

Piano Catch Cold.

"In this wintry weather," said the tuner, "keep your piano in a warm, dry room, and see, besides, that its cover is a good, thick, comfortable one. Otherwise it will take cold. Its tone will become hoarse and squeaky."

"Seriously," the tuner continued, "a piano's voice is affected by cold, and dampness much as is the human voice. It gets altogether out of tune. Considerable treatment is required to put it in good shape again."

Life Piano Should be Kept.

"A piano should be kept in a room of equal temperature. It should be placed against an inside wall, away from draughts. It should be kept closed when not in use. Its cover, in the winter, should be of felt, thick, soft and warm."

A Pleasant Letter.

"The matinee idol gets scores of letters from doting young girls," said a stage villain. "I now and then get a number of notes from some feeble-minded individual who identifies my personality with my parts."

"Fearing in a stock company, I naturally come to seem to our regular attendants a pretty bad customer, for, as the season advances, I find now a murderer, now a forger, now a pirate, now a miser, now a safe robber, now a body snatcher, now a rake, and so on."

"In last week's play I murdered an old woman, abducted a girl, forged a will, and set a house on fire. In consequence I got two notes of admiration. Here is one, I'll read it to you."

The Stage Villain Took Out His Pocketbook and Read:

"Be on your guard. For a long time I have been your base, actions with patience & so has others but you a dirty sneak and coward will you never cease to torment the young lady if not I vote and detain will wait for you sum nite outside the show and break your head."

A Remarkable Fact.

"Here," said a physiologist, "is a remarkable fact. Though women are smaller than men, their tongues are larger. The tongue of a woman of 5 feet is a quarter of an inch longer, and weighs a small fraction of an ounce more, than the tongue of a man of 5 feet two."

How to Choose a Pup.

"The litter of little dogs snuggled up to their mother in a great clean basket of straw."

"I don't know which to choose," said the young girl.

"Don't choose," said the fancier. "Let the mother do your choosing for you."

She laughed.

"You are joking," she said. "Not at all," said he. "Watch."

And he pointed to another basket, and he bade the mother transfer herself and her little ones thither. She, understanding perfectly, took up one of the puppies in her mouth and started off.

"There," said the fancier. "There is the dog you want. There is the 'pick of the litter.'"

"It is always the case that the mother's choice, that the pup which the mother takes up first when she is moving her family, is the best pup of the lot. It is the handsomest, the strongest, and the most intelligent always."

Strange Penalties.

The strange sentence imposed recently on a professional beggar—a fine of 10 cents a day, to continue for two years—was being discussed by some lawyers.

"It was a good sentence," said one, "for it will keep this woman under the magistrate's eye for all that time. It was a good sentence, and an original one."

"It reminds me," said another, "of a sentence I once saw meted out to a wife-beater. This man, coming home drunk, was refused admittance by his wife—was obliged, in fact, to sleep all night on the cold, hard doorstep—and in the morning, when she let him in, the man was so infuriated that he struck the woman on the arm, inflicting a perceptible bruise. He was, of course, at once arrested, and the magistrate sentenced him to fight the bench. To fight the bench: to fight the magistrate, a Sullivan of a fellow; and the unlucky wife-beater weighed no more than a hundred pounds. The fight came off at once in an alley behind the courtroom, and the wife looked on while the husband took as cruel and bloody a beating as I have ever seen inflicted."

"I," said a third lawyer, "saw a beggar haled before a magistrate for plying his trade in a town where begging was prohibited. The beggar pleaded ignorance of the law. The magistrate pointed out that placards forbidding begging were posted all over the place. The beggar thereupon said he couldn't read. 'You can't,' said the magistrate. Then we will confine you in the town jail until you have learned to read and write simple English."

"A woman of talent and social standing—a female poet in fact—was arrested for chronic drunkenness," said another lawyer. "The magistrate sentenced her to do missionary work for a year in a neighboring reformatory for drunken women. This proved to be a good sentence. It brought home to the erring poet the evils of alcoholism in a most moving way. She swore off, and since that time she has not touched a drop, while her output of poetry, I understand, has increased in quality and quantity, and her price per line on the market has gone up several per cent."

The Conservation of Energy.

There are a number of actors who will not shake hands with anyone except on Sunday. One or two will not even touch anyone except on Sunday.

These men claim that their work demands of them every possible particle of nervous energy, and they hold that in hand-shaking, and in every sort of fleshy contact, a certain portion of this energy passes off.

Hand-shaking, they say, is accompanied by good wishes, and in the unconscious effort of making good wishes the perfectly fresh and unimpaired physical condition, so essential to fine work in the actor, is a little gnawed away.

Sir Henry Irving goes farther than anyone else in his precautions against loss of energy. For the three last hours before the playing of a difficult and trying part, he not only will not touch or shake hands with anyone; he will not, if he can avoid it, even speak to anyone.

A NOTED WRITER HAS SAID:

MINES AND MINING.

FOR MILL IN GOLDFIELD.

Los Angeles Company Will Make the Move.

Power Enterprise Started for Nevada Camps.

Good Reports from Mines in State of Sonora.

The Black Diamond Mining Company of this city has decided to erect a custom mill at Goldfield, where it has property consisting of five claims. The mill is a new one of the Tarnell type, and before shipping it to the Nevada camp the company will put it up here and give it a public test. It is of twenty tons capacity.

The officers of the company, which was recently organized, are: J. O. Bates, president; C. F. Scroggs, secretary, and William G. Austed, treasurer, and offices are in the Lankershim building in this city.

POWER FOR MINES.

The present, almost prohibitive, cost of power for all but the smallest plants at Goldfield and Tonopah is to be overcome by the Nevada Power, Mining and Milling Company, a corporation organized principally by Colorado people, which is putting a large plant on Bishop Creek, Inyo county, in this State, the power for which will be transmitted across the intervening mountains and desert to the new camps. It is said that the company expects to be ready to begin furnishing power early in 1935. At present low-grade properties are being opened throughout the district, and in the Tonopah mines much ore is being taken out that cannot be shipped and, since the Southern Pacific placed an embargo upon California fuel oil, there is no prospect of anyone venturing to establish large plants until power from the outside is assured. The company has already let contracts for $100,000 worth of machinery and supplies and will spend about $50,000 on its plant. The chief engineer is C. O. Poole of San Francisco, well known in this State. Offices have been opened at Bishop and Goldfield.

COAL IN NEVADA.

John D. Hoff, a mining engineer of Goldfield, in an article in the Denver Mining Record, expresses the opinion that coal can be obtained in the vicinity of the new camps so as to insure a cheap fuel supply right on the ground. The opinion is based upon the geological formation and the outcroppings of which are found at points from about six miles north of Tonopah to some distance south of Columbia.

A large diamond drill has just been brought in for testing coal at Goldfield. Mr. Hoff illustrates his argument with drawings showing the formation of the country.

DIVIDENDS FROM SONORA.

The Lucky Tiger Mining Company, operating in the Altar district of Sonora, has issued its annual report from its office in Mexico, in which it expresses the hope that dividends will be paid by the first of next year. The company during 1933 produced 100 tons of shipping ore, with a gross value of $10,000. Development work amounting to 1000 feet was done. A concentrating plant was started in February of this year, and a cyanide mill will probably be installed within a few months. It is probable that a small smelter will be added later.

OAKLAND RESULTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The Gebhardt handicap for 2-year-olds was not much of a contest, as only E. tip-top her field and won with confidence. E. tip-top, 100 (Hayes) 19 to 1 second, L. O. ONE ON "BAT."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charley Mitchell sprung a little April fool joke on Belling Nolson yesterday. When the Dane called on White's manager to consummate the proposed match, the latter said "Why Mr. Nelson I was only fooling." Then Mitchell had something to say about White being matched with Belling and that his protegee could not do business with another until this affair was off their hands. After Belling had been in a while, Mitchell said White would turn his attention to Nelson. It is hardly necessary to add "Bat" was hopping mad. He said "when I heard the announcement that I could stop Jabez White inside of ten rounds I meant it. To show that I mean business I have posted $100 as forfeit for match with White for a side bet of $200. I will agree to stop him inside of ten rounds or lose my money. I have looked White over and looked up his record and now I am more confident than ever that I can finish him in four, let alone ten rounds. Mitchell met me on Thursday and wanted me to bet I could not stop White. My manager came over yesterday but Mitchell said it was all a joke."

Long Beach Park

Lots 55x300. One-third down, one-third in one year, one-third in two years at 6 per cent. The fastest selling property now on the market. Send for map.

No residence property on the Coast compares with it for scene and situation. High, level ground fronting on Ocean Boulevard, the most delightful driveway on the beach. A single glance at its location and the improvements tending toward it, mark it as a neighborhood destined to be fashionable, aristocratic and select. Lots already sold to people of the highest culture and refinement indicate the character of those who intend to build. Stringent building restrictions protect them.

Electric line east side of tract. All street improvements including wide cement walks. This property withheld for years is being eagerly purchased now. See it today and reserve your lot.

EVERY WAVE OF IMPROVEMENT ROLLS UP THE BEST IT HAS TO OFFER, TO THE DOOR OF OCEAN PIER TRACT.

Ocean Pier Tract

Lots sold last week aggregate $15,500. These same lots will net substantial profits as early as July this year when the real rush for lots commences. The slightest investigation will satisfy anyone competent to judge that the era of big values at Long Beach is beginning now.

The New Boulevard Terminates at Ocean Pier Tract

The Center of the Most Costly and Permanent Improvement

The New Boulevard and Speedway authorized by the Legislature at its last session, extending from Los Angeles to Long Beach, will have its terminus at the center of Ocean Pier Tract. Lying beside the Pleasure Pier, with the new Pavilion and the new $500,000 Hotel as central features, and with a sweep of Sea Beach unsurpassed on the Southern Coast, lots in Ocean Pier Tract offer the surest, quickest and most profitable investment on the market today.

Two large apartment houses are under way, and three more will be begun immediately, any one of which will show a rental of 30 per cent on the cost of lot and building, when it is considered that Long Beach is a city of 15,000, now only 20 miles from Los Angeles, and only 35 minutes ride on one of the world's fastest Electric Railways, and that these lots are the very choicest property there. These prices must appeal to every judge of realty values as the one big chance at Long Beach.

"OH, TELL HIM I LOVE HIM"

Message Sent by Posey to Lost Bridegroom.

Goes Back on Lover in Courtroom, However.

Still Guarded at Carroll Williams Angry.

Another climax came yesterday in the romance of Miss Elizabeth P. and A. E. Williams, the would-be bridegroom, from whom she was snatched by her sister and brother-in-law, the Carrolls, just as she was being taken to the altar. The scene in the courtroom was a dramatic one, and the girl, who had been taken and after getting only a glimpse of her lover was hurried back to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Carroll on West Sixth street. The scene in court was dramatic when bright and early the girl appeared in company with her brothers, the Carrolls, in the habeas corpus proceedings.

Miss Posey was visibly frightened and to the stern questions of Judge Smith returned brief but expressive answers.

"Are you restrained of your liberty?" asked the court.

"No."

"The court: You say you are not."

"Answer: I am not."

"The court: You are at liberty."

"So when and where you please."

"Answer: I am."

The case was immediately dismissed.

After the courtroom scene, Williams was able to tell her lover, who kept his distance, that she "would trust to him till death."

After the scene in court, Williams was angry all over and he declared "I was not the girl."

"They say I am no good," said "but I will show them. That Carroll is trying to poison her mind and make her believe that I am not good for her."

Minutes more she would have been his wife and we would have been together. I have lost and I guess a girl has gone back on me, but I never would have done so if they had not told her a pack of lies about me."

When asked if it was true that picture was in the regalia gallery this city, Williams said:

"Yes. I was arrested about the years ago and with a fellow named Burke was accused of rape. But I was convicted and I was passed up by the jury. I was in prison for a long time in the case as far as I was concerned."

Williams said he was tired of the whole miserable business and declared that he would give up the case as he believed there was no hope for him, long as the girl stood at the Carroll home.

"Carroll has no license to practice law," said the lover of Miss Posey.

"There is a fellow out there named West who seems to have the law."

"I have tried to reach Mr. Posey by phone but they will not let me speak with her. She is a girl and I love her."

WEST ON GUARD.

The Carrolls were not at home yesterday afternoon when a Times reporter called. Miss Posey was sitting on the front porch. Before the reporter could engage her in conversation a smooth shaven young man, the one who had paced the porch Friday evening and whom Williams' friends declare is the guard placed over Miss Posey, appeared and said he was authorized to ask for Mr. Carroll who could not be seen.

The man talked rapidly and seemed anxious to tell the story of the affair.

He was addressed by the mail "doctor," and when asked if his name was West, he smiled and said "yes, but keep my name out of the papers; call me Carroll if you like."

"You had about all the facts in Times yesterday," he said "with the exception of that part of the story which refers to me as the champion of Miss Posey. She is a fine girl. I am like one of the family here. There is nothing in it for me. I'm an old bachelor."

I am trying to keep her from him, that I can marry her. There is nothing in it for me. I'm an old bachelor."

After West had given his version of what Miss Posey thought of Williams, the reporter asked if he could speak with the young lady herself. West at first thought it would be unwise to talk to her during the excitement which had been occasioned by the attempted marriage.

He finally consented to bring the young lady. West continued to talk, however, and Miss Posey sat demurely nodding her head in apparent consent to all the fellow said.

HER MESSAGE.

The "doctor" was called to attend patient and Miss Posey's tongue was immediately loosened.

She was anxious to hear all she could about Williams and pled the reporter with questions concerning her lover.

"We would have been married yesterday," she said, "if it had not been for sister and Dr. Carroll. I have known each other for a long time. I have found Mr. Williams to be a live and honest young man."

He has given up a great many things for me and I think he is a decent fellow. He should have come to Dr. Carroll yesterday and talked matters over then perhaps things would have turned out differently."

Dr. West returned at this point, and the conversation was abruptly cut off.

"You can tell him I love him still," she said with a pretty smile as the vigilant West entered the room.

West thought the whole affair was a joke and believed Miss Posey would live to thank them all for the great kindness they had shown in keeping her from marrying Williams, who, he said, did not deserve such a fine girl as Elizabeth.

During the conversation the young lady tried to find out all she could about her lover. She hoped he would be good and would do nothing rash and she expressed a carefully-worded thought that in three months or perhaps six they might be married.

But here West broke into the conversation with the remark that Williams could afford to wait a year and prove that his record is first class.

Miss Posey nodded her head.

At the Broadway Department Store the young lady was being tried to marry and it was said that her position would be kept open until her return.

Late yesterday evening Williams declared that West had tried to marry the girl against her will, and that he had offered her all manner of inducements. The girl had refused, Williams said, and had told the Carrolls she would marry the man she loved.

Because the Carrolls had made charges, Williams produced a certificate of ALL eyes are turning toward the mountains. The East Side is coming toward the front more rapidly than any other section of the City. Its development has been less rapid than that of other parts of the City up to the present time, owing to the poor railroad facilities which are now as good as any in the City. Now it is recognized as the only quarter in Los Angeles where the advantages of high ground, pure air, and well-drained fertile soil are combined with easy accessibility, rapid transit and low prices. It is emphatically the coming resident district of Los Angeles. There is no other section where good health and sure profits are so effectually guaranteed.

These lots will sell themselves. They will not, they cannot last long at the price asked. Nowhere else in Los Angeles can you buy 50x150 foot lots, fifteen and twenty minutes from First and Spring streets for from

"KICKING" IS NOW TO STOP.

PRESIDENT HERT GIVES OUT ADVICE TO UMPIRES.

"Under" to be summarily punished by fines, and games to be forfeited upon "Balk Rule" to be enforced for a Change—Captains Only to be the "Kicking."

President Hert has issued his annual address to Pacific Coast umpires. The address is full, and explicit. If umpires do enforce them, much must result. The "kick rule" and particular attention by the umpires chief executive, but Ferrine has paid no more attention to it here than it was not on the books. In Ferrine's game French got away with a kick without a call.

The instructions follow: "To the Official Umpires of the Pacific Coast Baseball League—Gentlemen. In order to have all games played as quickly as possible, and thus add to the enjoyment as well as the pleasure of our patrons, you are hereby notified that the officers of the league are determined to put an end to the unnecessary 'kicking' and to stamp out every form of delay. You are hereby notified that you are, by the rules, given full authority to order any player, captain or manager to do, or omit to do, any act which you may deem necessary to maintain your dignity and retain respect of players and spectators. "No player (except the captain) is to be allowed to question any decision of the umpire. The captain of each team is the only member of the team who is to present or urge a point, or take part in any discussion with the umpire. You are hereby directed to notify each captain that the rules will be enforced exactly as they are printed, and that for each violation the prescribed penalty will follow. Make all decisions promptly and as you see fit. Never attempt to 'even' a player having made a mistake. Any player striking, or in any manner insulting, or acting in a manner tending to hold the umpire up to contempt or ridicule, is to be fined, and if the conduct is persisted in he should be put out of the game. "If the batter offers to argue with the umpire, or leaves the batter's box to do so, it is your duty to instruct the pitcher to throw the ball, that is to say, to 'put them over,' call strikes, whether the batsman is in batting or not. Batters have frequently delayed games unnecessarily in this manner. No possible good ever comes out of it, the only effect being to delay our patrons, whose money we consider at all times. "Many of the players have acquired the habit of trying to 'bluff' you into throwing the fourth ball; that is to say, to throw balls which have been called, immediately upon the delivery of the ball by the pitcher, the batter moves his hat aside and proceeds to 'bluff' you. If it happens that you call 'balls' to 'kick' and his friends, and partners of his club in the audience 'cheer' you. "For every such offense fine the batsman not less than $5. In every instance where you levy a fine report the same to the secretary of the league. If it happens that you are absent from San Francisco, report by mail the name of the player, the date and the amount of fine. Every fine levied must be reported and collected by you from the manager of the player's team before the opening of the next game, and the player so fined not allowed to play until the payment to you of the fine. "Positively do not remit a fine. Once it is levied it is your duty to report the same. Your failure to do so will result in the infliction of a penalty upon you.

"Players should not be permitted to curse or abuse an umpire, and any player using vulgar or profane language should be fined, and in a flagrant case should be removed from the game, and may be suspended. "The officers of this league will not retain in their employ an umpire who will tolerate such conduct on the part of any player. We desire to impress upon your minds the fact that we will not tolerate any kind of 'rowdy baseball,' and any player indulging in offensive or quarrelsome conduct during the game must be removed.

"We desire our umpires to understand that they will be backed up and supported by the league, and if they fail to enforce the rules or manifest weakness we do not want them. "It is our desire to secure umpires with nerve, and we shall support them at all times. "You are hereby instructed to do everything possible to have the games played speedily and to keep the players on the move at all times, particularly in changing innings, and to have the batsmen take their places promptly and be ready to take their turn at bat. A great deal of time has been lost in the past and games have been delayed unnecessarily. "You should be strict in what may seem to be trivial matters, thereby 'nipping in the bud' trouble before it fully develops. "Baseball can never be successful when players are allowed to do as they please, and the officers of the league are fully alive to this fact. "In conclusion, we urge you to compel respect from all; by so doing your task will be an easy one. "EUGENE F. HERT, President Pacific Coast Baseball League."

AMERICA'S HANDSOMEST DRUG STORE

Located in Los Angeles, in the Huntington Building, at Sixth and Main Streets, in the Pacific Electric Railway Station—Louis Roeder, Jr., the talented son of a pioneer of this city is the proprietor. The elaborate design originated in the mind of F. H. Hecker of Chicago, and this superb store was entirely furnished by him.

MAGNIFICENT APPOINTMENTS, INCLUDING ONE OF THE HANDSOMEST SODA FOUNTAINS IN AMERICA.

Every One, Resident or Tourist, is Invited to Visit Roeder's Drug Store and to View the Admirable Excellences of Its Artistic Embellishment. It is a Picture, or Rather a Series of Views Which are but Feebly Presented in Photography or Described in Language.

A revolution of what can be accomplished artistically and practically in an up-to-date drug store has been demonstrated in this model drug store.

Mr. F. H. Hecker of Chicago designed and manufactured the entire fixtures and soda fountain, which are patented. Every effort has been made to make it the finest drug store in America.

Roeder's Drug Store is typically Californian. As you enter it, you will note that the ornate design carries out the theme of orange leaves and fruit in colored art-glass; that the mission style of furniture is followed in the woodwork; that the fittings are original, unique, and altogether symbolic of products peculiar to Southern California.

On the right as you enter from the front, is a row of five plate-glass display cases, mounted on verd-antique marble bases, and behind them a line of alternating cases and cabinets in Flemish oak.

The cases are open, the shelves suspended by chains of antique design. The cabinets have doors of art glass in which the symbolic orange leaves and fruit reappear. The cabinet shelves are of plate glass, and mirrors in the back reflect prismatic lights, making a brilliant effect.

The first case contains soaps, perfumes and cosmetics for the toilet. The second division of the wall-case contains dry drugs and chemicals. The third holds liquid chemicals and drugs.

The second case is filled with brushes and druggists' sundries. The third case is for cigars, where the faintest cigarettes and gold-leaf wrapped cigars, as well as the cheaper and more popular brands of smokers' articles are found in complete assortment. At the end of the cigar counter stands a pedestal with a burning flame flaring from a verd-antique urn.

Here is the side entrance from the Pacific Railway station.

Beyond comes two more wall-cases and their interposed cabinets, filled with the familiar array of patent medicines, dry and liquid. Next is the wrapping counter, a handsome affair of verd-antique marble with background of large plate-glass mirror.

In the rear part of the store is a partition in Flemish oak with Venetian glass, which encloses a laboratory where family recipes are compounded. From the interior of this apartment private stairs lead to the mezzanine floor and balcony above, where are located the prescription department, the proprietary compounds, and the reserve stock of drugs and sundries.

The balcony is in the same Flemish quarter-sawn oak, and carries out the classic design. Panels of green underneath match the decoration of the plaster walls. Cases are in keeping.

The prescription table has a double working board, with shelves open to both front and back, so that four or even five pharmacists may operate at once without interference with each other.

At one corner is Mr. Roeder's private office; a cosy den, where he evolves his ideas.

The rear-door of the drug store communicates with the waiting room of the electric railway station by marble steps with brass rail-guard.

THE SODA FOUNTAIN SIDE.

On the left of the store as one enters, is the waiting room or rest-room.

where handsome mission-style settees upholstered in leather, and set upon marble bases, surround on three sides a table whereon are the common property of directory and phones, at the service of Mr. Roeder's patrons and the public generally.

Next stand the confectionery and cases which are marvels of beauty in plate glass. These cases are semi-circles of plate glass. In the rear the wall-cabinet is backed up with plate mirrors, so that the jars of brightly long, which is one of the largest and handsomest in the world. It is the original and the only patented Sanitary Soda Fountain made.

The fountain is Mr. Hecker's latest special design and is the only example of the pure classic mission style soda fountain.

The fountain harmonizes in every detail with the artist's design. Here art-glass lamp-shades of mosaic work by Tiffany, shed transluence through orange fruit and orange-leaf designs, and in colored panels of art-glass quaint and effective California landscapes are depicted. The fountain counter is of Flemish oak. Italian verd-antique marble, with a German silver work board and ice-cream packages.

Massive verd-antique marble columns dispense the soda water and support handsome electric fixtures, in the shape of orange trees, laden with golden fruit reflected in plate-glass mirrors, making a forest of loveliness.

The carbonation of the water takes place in full view of the customer in a plate-glass front chamber where the bright copper apparatus can clearly be seen at work, surrounded by mirrors. Carbonation is performed only as the soda is drawn, so that every drink is fresh and effervescent.

This soda fountain is the only perfectly sanitary fountain made, and is patented by Mr. Hecker, the builder and designer.

Dangers from Unsanitary Fountains.

Mr. Hecker says the sanitary features of soda fountains are overcome the time for even a spring cleaning.

Unsanitary Features Overcome.

All of these unsanitary features have been overcome in the F. H. Hecker Sanitary Soda Fountain; for trap to its name. It is sanitary in every respect. No spigots or pumps dispense the syrups, but the syrup containers are clear glass receptacles in individual silver holders in plain view of the customer, where they must be kept pure and clean and inviting.

German Silver Drain Board.

The drainboard is of German silver and is also in open view, assuring the patrons that there are no hidden corners for uncleanliness and microbes. Every part of the fountain is easily accessible for cleansing purposes. Under these sanitary conditions the public is assured of a pure, hygienic drink.

The Owner and Proprietor.

Louis Roeder, Jr., is a native of Los Angeles, and one of the rising young business men of this community. For the past three years he has been a proprietor of a drug store at the corner of Ninth and Main streets, which he successfully conducted, acquiring a reputation for enterprise, probity and painstaking endeavor to please.

Mr. Roeder is a practical pharmacist, a graduate of the California College of Pharmacy. He has had excellent educational and social advantages, and is the possessor of a wide acquaintance, general popularity, and sterling character.

It is his ambition not only to be the proprietor of the handsomest pharmacy in this country, but also to build up a business which shall be as exceptional in volume and kind, as his store is artistic and complete.

It is a cardinal principle with Mr. Roeder, that no mistakes shall be made in filling prescriptions; that no substitutions of "something equally as good" shall be permitted, and that no irregular practices shall be countenanced or that any questionable practitioners shall be served. No percentages will be given or taken. A straight, legitimate and conscientious administration of pure unadulterated drugs, according to the formulas of honest and reliable physicians, is the tradition of the Roeder Drug Store.

The Proprietor's Father.

Louis Roeder, Sr., is one of the pioneer citizens of Los Angeles, having lived continuously in this city for nearly half a century. He came to this country in 1851, with his parents from Germany, landing in New York and five years later, crossed the continent to San Francisco, where he worked at his trade as carriage and wagon-maker. The services of a wagon-maker were much needed in Los Angeles in that year, 1856, yet such was the wildness of this section of the country, that none of young Roeder's companions had the hardihood to venture down here, when word was sent to Frisco that a man was needed and good wages would be paid.

Mr. Roeder dared the venture, and he so prospered that seven years later he was enabled to start in business for himself. In that year he also married Wilhelmina Huth, who bore him six children, Louis, Junior, being the youngest of the family.

For many years the elder Roeder's wagon-shop was at Spring and First streets, and his home in Main street. The former site is now covered by business buildings on South Spring street adjoining the Nadeau Hotel, and the old home site is also built up into a business block. Of later years the senior Roeder has dwelt on Boyd street. Twenty years ago he retired whose brain conceived the plan giving to Southern California a drug store as no other part of the land can boast. "I have been pleased to make this one of the handsomest and completest drug stores in the world. I have given carte blanche to Mr. Hecker in the matter of design in beautifying the interior. I have filled the store with most strictly first-class stock, the lines of fancy goods obtainable, and feel sure that those who appreciate the good and the beautiful, will be pleased to make this their place of dealing."

"Not only are we prepared, Mr. Hecker has said, to serve pure and refreshing carbonated drinks, but shall carry the choicest of California's ice-creams and confections. Of fine cigars, elegant perfumes, toilet soaps, creams, powders, and toilet preparations will find no less than a vast variety. In addition, we have made with a view to gratify the most fastidious, as well as to give our reputation for selling nothing but the best and most reliable goods, a charge of an expert."

F. H. HECKER.

Investor, Manufacturer and Designer.

Mr. F. H. Hecker has built large soda fountains than any manufacturer. He has developed art. Instead of the same water designs for different customers, he signs each fountain for its particular surroundings and each fountain is an original masterpiece.

On this coast Mr. Hecker achieved notable successes in building interiors. In San Francisco he has placed a dozen fine buildings, including a magnificent hotel in Greenhagen's, the confectioners of that city, handsome fountains being in the department store, Olcott's, Prager's Department Store, and other notable places.

The Chicago home of the Hecker Sanitary Soda Fountain is at 15 North Jefferson street and Clay street, San Francisco.

Mr. E. C. Worth.

Mr. Roeder wishes to see the public and Mr. Worth, his friend, that Mr. Worth will be pleased to receive them in the manager
